LAST WORK DAY FOR MINERS

STRIKE AT MIDNIGHT

Mine Workers' Walkout Will Be in Full Swing Saturday With Coal Diggers All Refusing to Go Into Shafts Under Old Scale.

MANY ALREADY ARE LAYING DOWN TOOLS

Assistance of British Workmen Has Been Pledged American Union and Suspension Will Be Fought Out to the Bitter End.

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT.

Associated Press.

Suspension of work by the nation's 500,000 union coal miners is scheduled for tonight with the mine owners confident of ultimate victory in the fight over wages and working conditions, the miners equally optimistic, with the exception of the Illinois branch, and the larger industries of the country generally prepared to withstand a complete cessation of coal production for periods ranging from sixty to 120 days.

Reports from Pennsylvania and Illinois today said that some men already had quit work. In Indianapolis John L. Lewis, international president of the miners, predicted that the shutdown would be complete in twenty states and that at least 100,000 non-union employes would join the unionized forces in the strike.

In many cases, however, the operators were planning to continue production without union workers.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 31.—The last day of work under present wage contracts was completed today by the country's half million union coal miners. Officially their suspension of work was set to begin tonight at midnight, but virtually it was to start six hours before.

The extent of the suspension, however, will not be known definitely until tomorrow, the first day of the shutdown.

A complete tie up of union fields in twenty states was predicted today by officials of the United Mine Workers of America, at union headquarters here and they also asserted that 100,000 non-union workers would lay down their picks.

President John L. Lewis said at least 600,000 men would walk out, his estimate including the non-union participants.

"We are ready for a fight, forced on us by the operators," declared Mr. Lewis. "We have sought in every honorable way to get new contracts, but the operators have persistently refused to deal with us."

Twenty states will be affected by the shutdown, and the only union men expected to continue producing coal are 5,000 workers in southwestern Kentucky whose contract with the operators does not expire until April 1, 1923. In addition, forces of union men will be left in the mines to protect the property from damage.

Pennsylvania will turn out the largest number of men and other states to be affected include Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Washington. Western Canada also is expected to join the suspension, but not the Nova Scotia district.

The anthracite districts of Pennsylvania which are half unionized are expected to be shut down completely and in addition many bituminous miners in that state have been called on to join with the union men there.

The duration of the suspension in the union fields, as also the strike at the non-union mines is a matter of conjecture.

The shutdown begins with warm weather approaching and with stocks on hand, the largest at any time for the last several years. Government reports placed the stocks at 63,000,000 tons, a quantity as large as that which had been accumulated at the end of the war—armistice day, November 11, 1918. Thus supply officials estimate, will meet every demand for forty-three days and depletion of this reserve is regarded by union officials as necessary before they expect the bituminous operators to indicate any willingness to confer with the union on new wage contracts.

Anthracite operators, however, are conducting wage negotiations with the union and an earlier settlement in those fields is promised than for the principal soft coal districts.

Briefly, the miners demands are that the basic wage be retained in the soft coal fields and that the anthracite tonnage workers receive a 10 per cent increase with $1 a day advance be given to the anthracite

To Give Diplomas to Graduates in Class of 1872

ATLANTA, Ga., March 31.—Superintendent of Schools Hutton will have a problem on his hands tonight when he comes to deliver diplomas to a class graduated from the boys high school. Almost without exception, its members have the advantage over him in years and therefore in experience.

The class was graduated in 1872 and included a number of boys who have achieved prominent places in the vocations they afterward selected. Among them was Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution. For some reason long forgotten, the diplomas were never presented in the years intervening since graduation.

LOCOMOTIVE IS READY FOR WORK

Engine to Pull Material to Capitol Grounds Is Completed.

Over 100 Bidders on Excavation for New Building.

The 250-horsepower electric locomotive built by the Lincoln Traction company to haul cars of material over the H street line for the building of the new capitol has been completed and was run out of the car barn Friday. It was built on the bottom of an old stock car belonging to the Burlington railroad, with trucks and motors furnished by the Traction Co. A cab has been added on top.

The H street trolley poles and wires are now installed all the way from the Burlington yards to the southwest corner of the state house grounds, and several carloads of cinders for track ballast have been hauled over it.

Grading work is being carried ahead on Capitol square for the laying of tracks on all sides of the present building, to be used in switching carloads of material and taking out dirt excavated for the foundation. Secretary Johnson of the capitol commission expects the tracks to be in, with overhead trolley construction, within ten days or so. When the commission meets April 11 to open bids for the foundation, the switches will be in place.

One hundred prospective bidders are in sight at the present time. This is the largest number that will ever have competed for a public project in Nebraska.

ENVOYS SIGN PACT TO RESTORE PEACE

Executing Document Considered One of Important in Irish History.

(Associated Press)

LONDON, March 31.—Winston Spencer Churchill, the imperial secretary for the colonies, announced last night in the house of commons, the terms of the most important agreement yet reached between the representatives of the northern and southern governments in Ireland for bringing about peace in the sufferer country.

The agreement, which was reached with unexpected expedition at a conference between delegates of the Irish groups and representatives of the imperial government far transcends in importance the pact arrived at between Michael Collins, head of the provisional government and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, earlier in the negotiations.

It provided for the reorganization of the police in Ulster on a basis satisfactory to the religious leanings of the police of the north and south; for the trial of persons charged with serious offenses by a special court composed of the highest justices; for general co-operation between the north and south of a most promising character and for assistance from the British parliament to remedy the unemployment difficulties in Belfast, which rendered the carrying out of the previous Craig-Collins pact almost impossible.

The fact that the representatives of Dublin, Belfast and imperial governments set their signatures to an agreement is regarded in political circles as the most significant and weighty happening since the Irish treaty was signed. The conference sat throughout the day, but there always was a most hopeful and cheerful spirit manifested by all those participating in it.

The morning sitting was by the "small" conference. In the afternoon the full conference assembled and discussed the question. This evening there was another gathering for the final drafting of the agreement and its signature.

OFFICIALS ARE TO TAKE A HAND IN FISTIC DUEL

District Attorney Investigating Fight Between Author and Artist.

California Colony All Agog Over Latest Battle—Wilson Badly Beaten.

CARMEL, Cal., March 31.—The stern hand of the law may stage the next round of the "battle of the century" between literature and art.

The district attorney of Monterey county today was reported making an investigation of the fistic duel in which Harry Leon Wilson, creator of "Ma Pettengill" and "Ruggles of Red Gap," humorous literary masterpieces, and Theodore Criley, former hotel man and now landscape artist, were principals.

Guards have been authorized about the home of Criley by the district attorney. Three husky men pace about the well kept lawns of the Criley home. They have nothing to say regarding their presence there.

Criley and Wilson are silent. So are their seconds—one a groceryman and the other a writer.

But more and more details of the fight which has stirred California's Parnassus-by-the-sea as has nothing since the start of the colony of writers and artists are becoming public.

According to accounts now there were six knockdowns instead of four as first reported and according to these reports it was Wilson who went down on all occasions.

Criley, the reports say, was even more surprised at the outcome of the battle than the vanquished writer.

Wilson is Surprised

"I had expected to be knocked for a row of goals," Criley is reported to have told friends after the battle. "I was more surprised than Mr. Wilson at the outcome of the affair. I never had a fight in my life before. And I had known Mr. Wilson as a keen judge of boxing."

Criley is a near-sighted man and had to divest himself of his glasses before the bout started.

"Now you are going to get it" is reported to have been Wilson's words in opening the bout.

"I can't get up; I'm through," were reported to have been Wilson's closing words after he had struggled vainly to regain his feet following the last knock down.

Despite the weakness of his body, the author's spirit is reported to have remained strong unto the end.

As his adversary, a bit groggily, made his way from the scene of the combat—a wooded glade on Yankee Point, overlooking the sea—Wilson is reported to have raised himself painfully to his elbow and called out.

Has Only Started.

"This settles nothing. Don't think you are through with me. I have only started."

The—see mostly the humorous side of the affair. It is being discussed on all sides with smiles. The various stages leading up to the fight are being recalled.

The community play—"Pomander Walk," a romantic bit of sentiment on the stage; Wilson's first twenty-four page letter to Criley—now reported in the hands of the district attorney; the author's careful three months' training period; a party given two weeks ago from which Wilson departed angrily with his wife following the arrival of Criley, and his wife—all are being reviewed in great detail.

Criley played the part of the hero in the play and Mrs. Wilson was the heroine. That, all agree, was the start of the affair.

"We are sorry for both men," is the attitude taken by most of the friends and neighbors of the principals. "We knew of the threatened trouble, but could do nothing. We are sorry both take it so seriously."

Believe Boys Are Responsible for Robbery at Store

Police are investigating what may or may not have been a burglary at Dudge and Guenzel's Thursday night. Two watches from the repair department and several knives and some cartridges from the hardware section were missed Friday morning, but Sewell A. Sanderson, general manager, indicated that the merchandise might have been displaced by some of the clerks, though this was not probable. He stated that access could have been obtained to the building through a basement window, but an examination showed no finger prints and a film of dust on the ledge was not disturbed. Chief of Police Johnstone stated that the articles taken and the small size of the window would seem to indicate that the theft had been committed by a boy or boys.

DEATH OF TWINS OFFERS PUZZLER

Court Must Decide Whether Boy Son of One Woman or Both.

Disposition of $100,000 Estate Depends Upon Decision Judge Makes.

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 31.—The death of Rosa and Josefa Blazek, the "Siamese twins," has left the Cook county probate court with a legal problem which apparently is unprecedented. In disposing of the $100,000 estate of the twins, the court must decide if 11-year-old Franz is the son of one or of both of the twins.

A scientific controversy which began even before the death of the sisters yesterday has resolved itself into the question:

Were Rosa and Josefa Blazek one individual personality or did they constitute separate entities?

If they were one personality, the son will inherit the entire fortune which was accumulated by the twins during their exhibition tours of the world. If they were two distinct personalities, Rosa being the mother and Josefa the aunt, only Rosa's half of the estate would go to the lad while Josefa's closest relatives would be entitled to her half.

Physicians say there are physiological facts to support each contention and attorneys agree that a legal opinion must be based on a scientific analysis of the bodies.

So far a postmortem has been opposed by the brother, Frank Blazek, who is in this city.

TORNADO WIPES OUT SMALL TOWN

Will Ask Congress for Cash to Resume Work on Big Plant

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Congress will be asked to appropriate $7,500,000 within the next thirty days for the immediate resumption of work on the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant, it was announced today by Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, chairman of the senate agricultural committee.

This recommendation, Norris said, will be submitted to congress as result of the committee's tour of the Muscle Shoals site. Norris said no action will be taken at this session of congress on the offer of Henry Ford to lease the project.

General Haan on the Retired List

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Major General William G. Haan, president of the army classification board, retired today from active service, concluding a continuous military career of more than thirty-six years. During the Spanish-American war and the Philippine insurrection he distinguished himself. He took the 32nd division to France in 1918 and again won distinction in foreign operations.

The citation by which he was awarded the distinguished service medal shows that the general "took a prominent part in the Argonne-Meuse offensive and in the brilliant and successful attack against Cote Dame Marie, covering several days which deprived the enemy of the key point of the position."

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The impending coal strike was deliberately [illegible] by the operators as part of a [illegible] attempt [illegible] "big business" to deflate wages and "smash unions," Senator La Follette, republican, of Wisconsin, charged today in a formal statement.

LOVE HAS NOT DIED

Mervin Barackman, First Spouse of Mrs. Willette Snook Says He Wants Her to Become His Wife Again.

ON WITNESS STAND IN MURDER TRIAL

Wyoming Man Tells Jury He Is Anxious to Take Back Woman Accused of Killing Husband No. 3 — Defense Has Inning.

Mervin Barackman, of Torrington, Wyo., first husband of Mrs. Willette Snook, who is being tried for first degree murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of her third husband, Clyde Snook, February 20, stated on the witness stand in district court Friday that he loves Mrs. Snook and wants to take her back to live with him.

"Do you love Willette?" Attorney Holmes, counsel for Mrs. Snook, asked Barackman.

"Yes I do. I want her back and I'll take her."

"Do you love little Jackie?"

"I certainly do."

Jackie, eight years old, is Barackman's and Mrs. Snook's child. Mrs. Snook is about to become the mother of a child by Snook.

Barackman said he is 28 years old and a professional wrestler. He said he met Willette at Edgar and they were married in 1913 when she was only fifteen years old. They separated about a year and a half after their marriage and she obtained a divorce at Valentine in 1915.

Barackman was not allowed to answer the question: "Wasn't your separation on account of your mother?"

After their marriage Barackman said they lived at Edgar and then moved to his father's farm in Cherry county. His father only gave him $50 for six months work, he said. Barackman said his mother is in Seattle, Wash., and his father was shot and killed by another wife of his. Mrs. Snook's father is a rancher living at Bill, near Douglas, Wyo., and her mother has been dead many years he said.

Wants To Protect Her.

"I heard of Willette's trouble and came here to protect her and Jackie as best I could," said Barackman. "Jackie is always glad to see me when I come."

Barackman said Jackie had stayed with his (Barackman's) grandmother at Deweese part of the time after the divorce. He testified he had corresponded with his former wife since their divorce and had sent Jackie money while his former wife was married to Snook.

"I have been willing to take her back ever since the divorce," Mrs. Snook's first husband said.

Mrs. Snook, after her divorce from Barackman, married Grover Culver and later, Clyde Snook.

The first witness called to the stand by the defense, Friday morning was Mrs. Ellen Swindell. She said she heard Snook murmur, as he lay dying on the floor in the hall in front of the door of his home, in response to a question by Frank Hamilton as to "who did this?" "My wife."

Mr. Hamilton, who lived in the same building, was the next witness called to the stand and testified that he had asked Snook "who did this to you," but Snook made no reply.

John Dorr, who lived in a room next to the Snooks, said he had heard two violent quarrels in the Snooks room, during which both parties were using vile and profane language and accusing each other of association with other men and women. The witness said he heard a "red-haided woman" mentioned. Mrs. Swindell also testified about a "red-headed woman with the gay form."

Nelson P. Dann, a vocational training student, who also lived in the building where the Snooks lived, said he arrived on the scene of the alleged murder shortly after Snook fell outside the door of his room and died. He said Mrs. Snook and Mrs. Swindell had asked him to "get a doctor." He started downstairs and met Mr. Parke, the landlord, and asked him to get a doctor, young Dann said. He returned to the scene of the alleged crime and saw Mrs. Snook with her arm under her dying husband's head, trying to comfort him. A few minutes later Mrs. Snook got her hat and coat and left to get a doctor, Dann said. The Snooks room was disarranged, he testified. Mr. Hamilton previously testified the bed clothing was on the floor.

Mrs. Snook to Testify.

Attorneys for Mrs. Snook said they did not expect to conclude the defense Friday. Several more witnesses will be called to the stand by the defense. It is not likely that Mrs. Snook will take the stand in her own defense until Monday. The trial will be continued from Friday afternoon to Monday morning, Judge Stewart said.

The trial continues to draw record-breaking crowds. The women spectators out number the men, and many women bring their children. Every available inch of space is taken up by the audience. The attendance is so large that hundreds are unable to get inside the court room.

Mrs. Snook listens attentively to the testimony of each witness although showing no emotion. Friday morning she had during most of the session sat with little Jackie on her lap, her arms hugged tight about him.

LAST NIGHT OF PATROL SYSTEM

Guard Organization in Residential Sections Is Discontinued April 1.

Police Chief Praises Ex-Service Men for Checking Crime Wave.

The special legion guards who since last October have been patrolling the residence districts of Lincoln and held in check a crime wave, according to Chief of police Peter Johnstone, which engulfed many other cities, will be discontinued Saturday morning.

Chief of Police Johnstone Friday issued a notice that their jobs expire Friday night.

The chief is of the opinion that the value of the special guards could hardly be overestimated, during the past winter, and that practically not a dollar's worth of property was stolen during the winter in any of the patrolled districts.

The guards divided the city into districts and collected $2 a month from every subscriber in the district. The plan attracted nationwide attention.

Minneapolis Has Two Party Confabs on Friday Schedule

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 31.—Two political gatherings will be held here today—the state convention of the democratic party and the state convention of the nonpartisan league.

The democrats will endorse candidates for United States senator, and state offices. For the senatorship there has been no outstanding candidate.

It was not certain early today whether the nonpartisans would choose a full ticket for the June primaries. In connection with this meeting, the Working People's league also will hold a convention and a committee of the Farmer-Labor party has been conferring with these two sections, for the purpose, it is understood, of uniting on a farmer-labor ticket.

A. C. Townley, president of the nonpartisan league will announce to the Minnesota organization, his intention to resign his office. He made a similar announcement to the North Dakota gathering last week.

Outline Object of Russians at Economic Parley

RIGA, March 31.—Recognition of the soviet regime as the dejure government of Russia will be sought at the Genoa conference, to "aid in restoring trade relations between Russia and the rest of the world," Foreign Minister Chitcherin, head of the soviet delegation, yesterday told foreign correspondents.

Smoke Causes a Near Panic in Wheat Exchange

CHICAGO, March 31.—A near panic was caused in the wheat pit at the Chicago board of trade today when members engaged in a wild scramble for their hats and coats when smoke began pouring from the cloakroom door.

The smoke came from burning insulation on wires of the telegraph office on the first floor of the Board of Trade building. The fire was quickly extinguished with small loss.

The smoke screen halted trading in the wheat pit for fifteen minutes.

Davis Forsees a "Hung Jury" in Matters Case

"It looks to me like a hung jury," said Attorney General Davis, who returned to Lincoln at the close of the Matters trial in Omaha and was in his office at the capitol Friday morning.

"That means that we'll have to go through it all over again, and put in several weeks more time with another jury," Davis declared.

The attorney general had no announcement to make in regard to the renewed rumors that he is to become a candidate for United States senator in the republican primaries.

Agree to Extend Dyestuff Embargo

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Extension of the present embargo on foreign dyestuffs for one year from the passage of the pending permanent tariff bill was agreed to today by the republican members of the senate finance committee by a vote of six to four.

As the bill is not expected to be enacted finally for at least three or four months the proposed extension, if incorporated in it, would carry the embargo well into next year.

KIWANIS SPONSOR CAMPFIRE BUDGET

Girls Perform Ceremonies and Voice Their Appreciation to Club.

The meaning of Campfire, and its rituals and ceremonies was demonstrated to the members of the Kiwanis club Friday by a group of Campfire and Blue Bird girls in costume, headed by Lola Duncan, secretary-director of the Lincoln council, and Dorothy Teel who recently won the city women's indoor swimming meet.

The club will follow its practice of the past two years in underwriting the Campfire Girls' annual budget, the campaign for which is soon to start.

Dr. J. Stanley Welch briefly told of the great success of Camp Kiwanis at Milford in giving a period of vacation for 675 Campfire and business girls during last season, and introduced Mrs. Frederick Teel, a member of the Campfire council, who also spoke of the great benefit which has come from the camp, which was sponsored by the Kiwanis club. Mr. Warner is a well known practicing attorney of northern Nebraska and was formerly United States marshal for this state. He is an old university man and has children who will finish their education there.

Denies President Mixed in Fight

CHICAGO, March 31.—Intimations that President Harding and his cabinet had been instrumental in bringing the present railroad fight for lower wages to the railroad labor board brought a strong denial from Vice Chairman Hooper on the board today that the president had ever given "the slightest intimation as to what policy the board should pursue in adjusting wages."

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE

Jury at Fort Worth, Texas, Finds J. M. Champ Not Guilty of Murdering Earl Hensley, Former Lincoln Man.

ACCUSED MADE PLEA OF SELF-DEFENSE

Defendant Testified Hensley Attacked Him During a Quarrel Over Business Matters—Claims Partner Made Threat.

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 31.—J. M. (Pinkey) Champ was acquitted by a jury last night in the district criminal court of the murder on March 6 of Earl Hensley. The jury deliberated four hours.

Champ made a plea of self-defense. He testified that Hensley had attacked him in the course of a quarrel over business. The men were partners. Champ said he did not shoot his partner until the latter had struck him several times and was reaching for his hip pocket, presumably with the purpose of drawing a revolver. Other witnesses said the quarrel had extended over a period of several weeks and that Hensley had been heard to threaten to "get" his partner. Champ said he had never "toted a gun" until this threat had reached his ears. He had been warned, he said, that Hensley was "packing a gat."

Ran Garage at Mexia.

Earl Hensley was the son of County Commissioner and Mrs. T. [illegible] Hensley of this city. Hensley and Champ had been engaged in the garage business at Mexia, Tex., and their disagreement over business affairs resulted in a lawsuit which was tried shortly before the fatal shooting.

Earl Hensley's body was brought to Lincoln and interment made in Wyuka cemetery. Burial was under the auspices of the American Legion, the deceased having been in the air service during the world war.

Commissioner Hensley went to Fort Worth about ten days ago to settle up the business interests of his son and to attend the murder trial. He had not returned to Lincoln Friday.

Minnesota Not In Nebraska's Class

"Hurrah! Nebraska won. It's a state to be proud of."

This is the post card message received by Deputy Secretary of State W. L. Gaston from Lawrence Lehmann, a college student at New Ulm, Minn., telling about the result of a debate held there on the question: "Resolved, that Minnesota is a greater state than Nebraska."

Lehmann formerly lived in this state and he was one of the debaters who successfully upheld Nebraska's side of the argument.

He had previously written to the secretary of state's office for information concerning Nebraska, and Gaston had sent a considerable mass of data along that line.

MANY EFFORTS AT RELIEF PROVE TO BE INEFFECTUAL

Rev. Wagner Sends Advice From Famine Area of Russia.

Says That All Contributions Should Be Sent in Certain Way.

Rev. J. Wagner, who is repsenting the Central States Volga Relief society in Saratov, Russia, has written to Dr. H. P. Wekesser, president of the society in Lincoln, a letter in which he describes conditions as he found them and gives advice to those people in the United States who have relatives in the famine area whom they desire to assist. He says that much trouble and distress is caused by the writing of letters to relatives urging them to attempt to come to America and he advises that this be discontinued.

Rev. Wagner seeks to impress upon the people the fact that the only reliable way as well as the cheapest way to get relief to relatives is through the American Relief Administration. It does absolutely no good to send money drafts, nor do packages of food reach their destination. Clothiug is not so badly needed at this time bzut food is. Food drafts of small denominations should be sent at frequent intervals, as it is unsafe to have much of a supply on hand at one time. Stealing is prevalent and food is more precious than anything else in Russia.

An abstract of the letter follows:

Balzen, Province of Saratov
Russia, Febr. 24, 1922.

Dr. H. P Wekesser, President.
Central States Volga Relief Society.
Lincoln, Nebraska.
Dear Dr. Wekesser:

For the guidance of people in America who have friends and relatives in the famine district in Russia, I wish you would give this letter as much publicity as possible.

First: The question of immigration—Stop sending letters of enticement to have your friends and relatives immigrate to America. Conditions here are terrible and everyone is anxious to emigrate to America, and many people receive letters from relatives giving directions as to the best way in which to do this, so that many of these poor people follow the misdirections and letters of enticement and sell what little they have for anything that they can get and start for America. Many reach Saratov, some get a little farther, then after laying around for a few days they return to their village. If they were poor before they left, they are doubly poor when they return. Their sorrow and suffering has been increased many-fold. Their children were taken from the American Relief kitchen and when they return they usually find that their places in the kitchen have been taken by others, (there are not yet enough supplies to feed all,) and it is often impossible to have them reinstated, so that conditions among these people are pathetic and indescribale. Some people get to the border of Russia and are unable to proceed farther; where most of them die from hunger.

In Need of Food.

The Russian governemtn does not issue passports, and to get across the border in an illegal manner is not a simple matter. Stop writing about passports until you have discussed the matter with the proper authorities. If you wish to help your people, send them something to eat.

Second: Concerning the Sending of Money—I have now been in eleven villages and in these as well as from other villages people come to me with drafts from America. Even in Saratov some people came to me with American bank drafts. What can these people do here with those drafts where there are no banks or anything similar to a bank? The answer is nothing, absolutely nothing. The only thing I can tell these people is that they must return their drafts to America and direct the senders thereof to send this money to the American Relief Administration, Russian Food Remittance Department, 42 Boradway, New York City, giving the name and address of the person for whom it is intended and in about ten weeks they will receive here an order for foodstuffs. This only brings tears to hte eyes of these hungry, starving people who apparently have been helped and yet must prepare to wait some more. This is the result of smartness and ignorance of Amricans who will not follow the directions of the proper authorities.

Third: The Sending of Packages—My dear people, please listen, do not throw your money away in such an irresponsible manner. I know you want to help, but the best way and how to do it, is something you must think about. You send your packages with the knowledge that the American government does not insure them and those who give you assurance that these packages will reach their destination do not know what they are doing. Up to the present most packages have been lost, and those that have reached their destinktion were in very bad condition. Some contained a few rags, others were filled with stones and various other worthless articles. The good things that you put into them had disappeared. Some people also put notes in the packages, which is against postal regulations, and when these packages arrive, the recipient was fined 20,000 rubles, and even then did not obtain his package. Is that the way to help a poor relative? Do you not know better in America? Why not send your friends and relatives food supplies in a safe and sure way through the American Relief Administration, which is working under the protection of both the American and Russian government, as in this way your friends will be helped. The man who today has food in Russia is rich and can obtain anything else that he may wish.

The Quickest Method.

Fourth: The Sending of Food Supplies—I have already indicated the safest way of sending food supplies. I have also given the correct address and this is also the quickest method of sending these supplies. Many people however, are sending money to or giving money to other organizations which are not represented here. I have been in this territory since the 10th of February, and again and again, people show me letters and receipts indicating that food stuffs and clothing have been sent to them through these various organizations but nothing has been received and probably never will be. I saw receipts from German firms to whom money was sent from America dated November, 1921, but up to the present nothing has arrived here. I do not understand how anyone in America can pass by the safest of all organizations and send anything through any foreign bank or organization. Possibly it is because many of these people promise more than the American Relief Administration, but the facts are even after the American Relief Administration deducts one-fourth from the ordinary food draft, the recipient obtains more for the three fourths that remain than anyone else can give them in any other way. The one-fourth deducted by the American Relief Administration is used for the general child feeding program.

Fifth: The Clothing Question—Clothing is not so necessary as food. Of course, they are in need of all the necessaries of life, but bread is needed most and bread will buy anything in the open market. Not only is the clothing offered on the market, but people offer anything that they may possess, such as clothing, barns, and even houses are offered for food. Man will give anything to prolong his life.

From now until harvest bread is the thing that is needed most. Every means of transportation should be utilized in transporting food. Clothing can be sent in after harvest. Do not forget that many are dying and these leave their clothing behind, which is not permitted to go to waste. In families where there are children who do not have clothing, the parents are obligated to report to the village authorities, who place the children into institutions where they are cared for, and where the American Red Cross supplies them with clothing and medicine. Then do not forget that the taxes in the form of clothing were not as great as those on food supplies.

Conditions Growing Worse.

Schoolmasters in patched-up clothing have stood before me and told me that bread was the thing they needed most. What do we want with clothing when we are permitted to starve? Conditions from now until harvest are getting gradually worse, and unless help comes and continues to come there will not be many left by that time. Every locomotive and every car should be used for transporting food supplies. After that a plan will probably be adopted whereby clothing can be sent.

Sixth: How to Designate Your Contributions—You can have them sent where and to whom you wish. The American Relief Administration will comply with your wishes if possible, but I would like to suggest that if you have contributed so much to the relief fund, and that your father and other relatives have a share in the community fund, for often these people come to the relief kitchen and insist on having their share and only cause trouble. When funds are contributed for a community we divide the supplies obtainable for these funds equally among the people of the community since one is as poor as the other. They are all alike. The relief kitchens are now supported entirely by the general fund of the American Relief Administration. The contributions to the general fund of the Volga Relief society are used in the German villages for the feeding of all adults and all are treated alike. From the general fund we are feeding especially those communities for which nothing has been designated. Friends and relatives should continue to send food drafts at regular intervals and not too much at one time, since stealing is very common here. Food drafts should be sent once or twice a month in small denominations according to the size of the family for whom they are intended.

Do not tire in this great work. Conditions here are indescribable.

Greetings to all from your co-workers.

(Signed.)
REV. J. WAGNER.

Agricultural Notes of Nebraska Counties

BLAIR—One hundred Washington county farmers who visited the Omaha stock yards and watched government inspectors examine carcasses that were infected with tuberculosis returned to their home fields with a new idea of tuberculosis testing and eradication according to Carl Olson, county extension agent. Several head of Washington county cattle were slaughtered for the benefit of owners. So impressed were the visitors with the disclosures, Mr. Olson states, that all have resolved never to drink the milk or eat the meat of an untested animal.

In this connection, Mr. Olson reports four townships have completed testing for tuberculosis and two will be completed in the next two weeks, while three other districts will get started soon.

Educating the amateur bee keeper and promoting the spread of bee food were two of the major projects decided upon at a meeting of the county bee keepers association here. Through a campaign of education in the care of bees, both problems are expected to be solved this year. The hundred hives started by LeRoy Baxter last year were increased to more than 200 in the fall. The yield was 2,500 pounds of extracted honey and 3,000 sections of comb honey.

Variety tests made in Washington county lead Mr. Olson to recommend Ito San soy beans for hogging down purposes in this county. A bean attachment for planters is suggested to farmers who will plant larger acreages, with six pounds per acre for an attachment feeder and eight to ten pounds when mixed in the seed planter.

Women Interested in Club Work.

WEEPING WATER—Women of Cass county are showing increased interest in club work being carried on by the county farm bureau and extension service, L. R. Snipes, county agricultural agent, reports. Fifteen women attended the dress form demonstration last week, elected officers and voted to hold the next meeting April 18. Short cuts in sewing will be demonstrated at this meeting.

Three millinery meetings were held at which fifty-six hats were subjected to remodeling and ten new hats planned. South Ashland, Eagle, Nehawka, Elmwood, Murray and Avoca millinery clubs are encouraging the work.

Health and nutrition classes will be held April 18 and 19, and advance indications are that women of the county will get behind this project and conduct demonstrations for underweight and improperly nourished children, Mr. Snipes states.

Landscape gardening and orchard and grape pruning classes also are being held, according to Mr. Snipes, the former a club to beautify farm homes and lawns and the latter to promote better care of the vineyard.

Experimental Poultry Farm.

CRETE—An experimental poultry farm for the purpose of developing a commercial flock that will be self-supporting and enable the local mills to try out the chick feeds it produces, has been started with 1,000 baby chicks, J. R. Higgins, county extension agent, announces. The Saline county agent has furnished the milling firm the plans for a model breeding house which will be constructed on the Gregory farms, southeast of here.

Two accredited poultry flocks in Saline county ranked among the highest in the state in February, according to Mr. Higgins. O. A. Friedley ranked first with 14.6 as the average eggs per hen, and C. S. Hetherington of Western ranked second with 14 average eggs. Both flocks are Single Comb White Leghorns.

The "Happy Seventeen" hot lunch club of school district No. 98 held its Achievement Day, with seven active members concluding their work and turning in 100 per cent reports. This entitled them to individual certificates of achievement as well as a seal of achievement for their charter. Since the club was organized the club has served 1,261 individual meals on eighty-four different days at an average cost of two cents per meal.

Test Seed Corn.

FRIEND—Albert Buline of Atlanta precinct, who conducted a seed corn variety plat with nineteen varieties during the summer of 1921, expects to test all of his seed corn this spring, according to W. C. Calvert, county extension agent. Mr. Buline plans to obtain as near a perfect stand as possible in order to eliminate the excess cost in growing this year crop. A review of cost of production figures on corn obtained from the county extension agent last year which showed an average cost of 49 cents per bushel on five different farms led Mr. Buline to find some way to cut down the cost, Mr. Calvert quotes.

Otoe County Club Work.

SYRACUSE—Prospects are good for the showing of some exceptional litters this fall and most of the leading breeds will be represented as a result of activity in pig club work in Otoe county, says R. H. DeLong, county agricultural agent. A call on a few of the boy members of these clubs will convince a spectator that good one and two-year results have been obtained, the agent states.

The multiplicity of gopher mounds in fields of alfalfa and clover in Otoe county might lead a stranger to believe that a closed season is maintained on such pests, declares Mr. DeLong. Poisoned bait of various kinds is quite effective if applied before vegetation becomes abundant, he adds.

Swine breeders are taking kindly to soy beans planted with corn for hogging down purposes in the fall, it would be judged from inquiries for seed at the farm bureau office, Mr. DeLong states. The beans should be planted when the corn is planted and not when the corn is being laid by, advises the agent.

Otoe county farmers who have made it a practice to test their seed oats for smut have found it a paying procedure, Mr. DeLong continues. A solution of one pint of formaldehyde and one pint of water applied with a small hand sprayer with two or three strokes with an atomizer for each scoop-full of grain is sufficient, he states. The grain should be covered with a canvass or blanket for four or five hours and the seed is ready for sowing. The wet method also is recommended.

To Dicuss Farmers' Problems.

WALTHILL—Precinct or community gatherings at which the problems of farmers can be worked out rather than individual assistance is suggested by H. E. Huston, county extension agent, as a better means of answering the demands of the bureau and reaching a larger number of constituents in the county. Mr. Huston is endeavoring to work out precinct or community programs in advance, with an outline of the work to be desired in order that the county agents may be prepared to render its best service and lend assistance that is desired.

Sheep Men May Pool Flocks.

WAHOO—Saunders county farmers interested in sheep raising may pool their flocks when shearing time arrives and have the work done for 17 to 20 cents per head, but it is a better practice for growers to do their own shearing, declares W. F. Roberts, county extension agent. Each year finds a few more entering the sheep business, Mr. Roberts says, and the shearing problem always bobs up. The farm bureau has offered to hold demonstrations on shearing and docking.

A group of neighbors, by working in teams, can stage a one-day gopher campaign and cover several farms, Mr. Roberts states. Co-operative effort is about the only way pocket gophers can be controlled, the agent asserts, and as the pests are beginning to throw up mounds at this season of the year, the poison squad should get busy, he says.

Beginning today, the county bureau announces the following club dates: Dress form meeting at Leshara; sewing demonstration at North Ashland, April 4; dress form meeting, Douglas precinct, April 5, and homemakers meeting at Prague, April 6.

Test Wheat.

GENEVA—The Fillmore county farm bureau extension agent is conducting some experimental demonstration wheat plats north of here, six varieties of wheat being used on as many half-acre tracts, L. W. Thompson, county extension agent, reports. The plats lay side by side in a field that is as nearly uniform in all conditions as could be found. Kanred, Turkey Red, Black Hull, Nebraska No. 6, Nebraska No. 60 and Nebraska No. 28 are the varieties under experiment.

Seed was sown last fall and has come out in good shape this spring, according to Mr. Thompson. No conclusions can be drawn as yet, he says, but observations indicate that Black Hull was the slowest in coming up in the fall but may rank just as good in growth. No difference has been noted in any of the other varieties.

DISCUSS DISEASES OF HOGS.

BATTLE CREEK—Worms and other pig and hog troubles will be the subjects of several meetings to be held in Madison county the week of April 4-7, with films and a special representative of the United States department of animal industry to illustrate and speak on the subjects, according to H. A. Stewart, county extension agent.

Soy beans that have been grown in this part of the state can be obtained direct from the growers in limited quantities, Mr. Stewart states. Experimental data shows that soy beans planted four to six pounds per acre will yield enough protein per acre to equal approximately 200 pounds of tankage when the field is hogged off. This can be done at an expense of decreased corn yield of about three bushels per acre, according to Mr. Stewart.

Madison county Duroc breeders held their second annual banquet and business meeting here last night, at which plans for the current year were made and officers elected. The association was reported to have had a successful year. The wives and families of breeders were to be a party to the banquet.

Third Trial Full of Legal Disputes Over Evidence

(International News Service.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—The third trial of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle bids fair to go down in legal history as having involved more legal technicalities than any case hitherto tried in the superior court here.

The day opened in court today with long arguments over the admissability of certain affidavits taken by the defense in Chicago. The prosecution is fighting tooth and nail to keep these out of the record. The jury was not brought into the courtroom while the arguments were made.

To date fully half of the time consumed in the trial has been taken up with legal arguments.

The defense planned attack further today the health of Virginia Rappe to support their contention that she was suffering from a chronic ailment which might have caused her death.

Answer to Demand Note to France on Way to Washington

PARIS, March 31.—France replied today to the note from the United States concerning payment of the costs of the American military occupation of the Rhineland. The French note repeats the recent declaration of the minister of finance before the senate that France recognizes the rights of the United States in the matter. The only question is to whom the request for reimbursement should be made—to the allies or to Germany, the note says.

The French foreign office characterizes the note as a mere acknowledgement of the American communication. The American embassy here, however, considers the note a full acceptance of the claims as set forth in the American note.

HOLDREGE WINS.

Grether, '22, of the 1921 Nebraska debating team against Iowa, and Anton Jensen, instructor in German languages, were at Holdrege Tuesday judging the Holdrege-Lexington debate in the southwestern district of the high school debating league. Holdrege won their unanimous decision.

ACID STOMACH

In five minutes "Pape's Diapepsin" ends

Indigestion	Gases	Heartburn
Sourness	Flatulence	Palpitation

"Pape's Diapepsin" "really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous—and the joy is its harmlessness. A large sixty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the most efficient antacid and stomach regulator in the world.—Advertisement.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

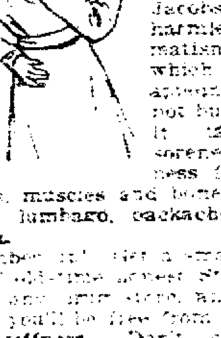

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.—Advertisement.

Stop "dosing" rheumatism.

It's pain only. St. Jacobs Oil will stop any pain, and not one rheumatism case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil right on the tender spot and by the time you say Jack Robinson out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints, and does not burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest St. Jacobs Oil from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.—Advertisement.

IRISH AGREEMENT HELPS FREE STATE PARTY'S POSITION

Word North and South Ireland Leaders Get Together Greeted With Cheers.

Future Holds Bright Prospects for Erin, Winston Churchill Declares.

SIGNS FREE STATE BILL.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, March 31. — The Irish Free State bill became law today when King George gave his assent to the measure. The house of lords decided not to insist upon amendments it had adopted and an adjustment was reached between the two houses of parliament.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The readiness of the United States to exchange ratifications of the arms conference treaties final approval to which was given yesterday by the senate is expressed in notes going forward today from the state department to the eight nations which participated in the Washington conference.

Last Treaty Ratified.

LONDON, March 31.—The Free State party in Ireland is enormously strengthened by the agreement for the pacification of Ireland, signed here last night, the house of commons was told today by Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for the colonies.

Signing of the agreement between the representatives of the north and south came with unexpected suddenness. The cheers with which the house of commons greeted the announcement by Secretary Churchill, gave an indication of the enthusiasm with which the majority in England is expected to greet the news.

Paying tribute to what he termed the statesmanlike courage of the Ulster leaders, Mr. Churchill said the agreement gave hope for cooperation between the north and south and opened a prospect for a future such as Ireland had never before contemplated.

Ulster, he said, had lent a helping hand to the Free State and the cause of peace in Ireland, the value of which could not be overestimated.

For, by taking all the measures humanly possible to bring cessation of religious partisan warfare in Belfast itself and remove the cause of friction he said, Ulster has given the treaty and the provisional government a far greater chance of success than would have been otherwise possible.

Will Disband Police.

BELFAST, March 31.—Demobilization of the police in the six counties of Ulster will begin today and is expected to be completed not later than May 31.

Disbandment in the twenty-six southern counties will begin at the same time and be finished as soon as possible.

The above dispatch would indicate that the agreement signed last night in London was to be effective immediately. The agreement provides for reorganization of the special police forces. In districts where the population is of differing religious beliefs, these forces are to be composed of half Catholics and half Protestants. All members of the special constabulary are required for these forces are to be drawn.

Launch Publicity Department.

DUBLIN, March 31.—A publicity department has been started by the republican section of the Irish republican army, its first statement says Sunday convention, on a conservative estimate represented 8 per cent of the whole army.

The statement charges the Free State soldiers at Beggars' Bush barracks with the munition shops of the republican section and that a large number of Free State officers, including twenty-five who have been guarding the Bank of Ireland have joined the republicans.

Firing Continues.

BELFAST, March 31.—A patrol of special police returning from duty today was ambushed in Hill street. Newry. Constable Allen was shot dead and Constable Waring wounded. While the other members of the patrol were looking to Allen and Waring, they were heavily fired on with machine guns.

Two men were shot and seriously wounded in the streets of Belfast last night and a bomb was thrown. No one was injured by the missile.

ARM CONFERENCE PACTS APPROVED BY U. S. SENATE

Last of Treaties Ratified by Solons Late Thursday Afternoon.

Far Eastern Agreement and Chinese Tariff Revision Pass Same Day.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 31 — The senate completed its part of the arms conference program Thursday by giving its approval to the last two treaties of the group of seven submitted to it for ratification.

On the final ratification roll calls, the affirmative expression of senate opinion was all but unanimous. Not a single vote was cast against the far eastern treaty drawn to guarantee a new bill of rights to China and there was only one dissenting vote when the constitutional "advice and consent" was given to the pact for revision of Chinese tariff. The totals respectively were sixty-six to nothing, and fifty-eight to one.

The momentum with which the ratification program was swept to a conclusion, exceeded the expectations of the administration leaders, who had not expected the debate before tonight. By Thursday's accomplishment, the senate set a new record for action four far-reaching international covenants having been ratified within two days and six within the last week.

No Such Obligation.

To a suggestion during the debate that there might be an obligation to use American force to "keep Russia off China," Senator Underwood replied:

"No but I don't say we wouldn't do it." This treaty is an absolute declaration of rights for China on the part of nations signatory," he continued. "It is something I do not believe has ever happened before in the worlds history—to protect a weak nation until she is able to establish an effective government and take her proper place in the family of nations. All that's done in this pact by these nations is to guarantee among themselves the rights of those people, their territorial integrity the right to govern themselves and equal opportunity to align trade and commerce.

"There's no more altruistic treaty ever been written in the history of nations and I believe it is for the great good of the world as well as for China."

An unusually small number of senators attended the debate only four, all democrats being on the floor at one time.

Senator Brief, republican, Kentucky who had been absent when the roll call was taken later entered the chamber and obtained unanimous consent to have his name added to the list of those voting for ratification.

Revises Chinese Tariff.

The terms of the Chinese tariff treaty which provides for revision of the Chinese customs systems by an international commission were explained by Senator Underwood, who said it would greatly increase Chinese revenues.

"I recognize," continued the democratic leader, "that the right to control customs revenues is a part of the sovereign power of a nation but the fact that nations have sovereign powers does not mean that they do not at times yield a part of that sovereignty for their own good.

"China has made contracts with ten nations yielding a part of her sovereignty by agreeing that she could not levy any import duty in excess of 5 per cent. China was not the only nation who had made such contracts. We, ourselves, have made certain reciprocity treaties."

Senator Hitchcock, democrat, Nebraska suggested there was a great difference between a reciprocity treaty and a treaty "forced on China and for which she gets nothing in return."

"If the senator means that this treaty was 'forced on China' replied Senator Underwood, "that is far from the facts. There was not one syllable of this treaty written until China first had consented and had asked that it be done."

He added that he had stated repeatedly in the conference he hoped the day would come when complete tariff autonomy would be given to China but that under present circumstances it seemed impracticable.

Senator Hitchcock declared it would be "outrageous" to adopt a far eastern treaty pledging respect for China's administrative integrity and immediately afterward to give approval to another "by which the great powers dictate her tariff rates."

MRS. GREGORY IS CALLED BY DEATH

Former Juvenile Probation Officer Yields to Long Illness.

Took an Active Part in Welfare Work and Civic Betterment.

Mrs. Sarah Burgess Gregory, widow of Rev. Lewis Gregory, former pastor of the First Congregational church, died at 5:20 p. m. Thursday at her home, 1230 L street, following an illness of almost a year. Mrs. Gregory for many years had been an outstanding figure in Lincoln, due to her efforts for civic betterment and her interest in the work of the juvenile court and the court of domestic relations.

She leaves a daughter, Miss Lillian Ramsdell, a granddaughter, Miss Gladys Ramsdell, and four sisters; Mrs. Ferdinand C. Fiske of Lincoln, Mrs. Dr. F. D. Crim of New York City, Mrs. Alma B. Meshier and Mrs. H. C. M. Burgess of Lincoln.

Dr. John Andrew Holmes, pastor of the First Congregational church, assisted by Rev. M. A. Bullock, will conduct the funeral services at the home at 3 p. m. Saturday. Pallbearers will be Judge Frederick Shepherd, Judge W. M. Morning, Rev. Ralph Orr, Will Owen Jones, Frank E. Coatsworth and Harry W. Megginis. Burial will be at Wyuka. The family has requested that no flowers be sent.

Mrs. Gregory was born sixty-three years ago in Petersburg, Virginia, where the earlier years of her life were spent amid the heaviest fighting of the civil war. She was married there to J. C. Ramsdell and lived at Utica, N. Y., until after the death of her husband, when she came to Lincoln to be near her sisters. She had lived here for the past twenty-five years. In 1897 she was married to Rev. Lewis Gregory, known as "the father of Congregationalism in Nebraska."

Crusader for Humanity.

For many years she was president of the City Improvement Society, and was a familiar sight to many as she drove about the city, personally seeing that health and humane ordinance laws were respected. She was instrumental in securing the first public ambulance in Lincoln, the first playground equipment was purchased at her instigation and the rest rooms installed in the city hall. She continued her efforts with the society until her health failed a year ago.

Mrs. Gregory always took a deep interest in the welfare of young people and the juvenile court. She was never afraid to visit with them, advise them and fight their battles. She was especially concerned about young girls and many times took them into her home until suitable arrangements could be made for them.

The institution of a court of domestic relations here was of great interest to Mrs. Gregory, who studied methods used in other courts and assisted materially with her advice. Her ability in social problems was recognized by all and three years ago she was persuaded to become chief probation officer. Her faithfulness to duty and strenuous work in this official position was one of the chief contributing causes of her death.

Action to Recover 2 Million Dollars From an Actress

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—Ola Humphrey Hassan, better known as Ola Humphrey, an actress, was sued for $2,450,000 in the Los Angeles county superior court yesterday by Herman L. Roth, New York attorney who asks the money as fees.

Roth alleges he was engaged by the defendant to recover for her a half interest in the $14,000,000 estate left by her late former husband, Prince Ibrahim Hassan of Egypt, whom she had married in Paris. He declares she obtained nearly $5,000,000.

Believe Runaway Girls in Chicago; Will Make Search

AURORA, Ill., March 31.—Ruth Burk, 13, and her sister Virginia, 9, daughters of W. H. Burk, wealthy official of the Lyon Metallic Manufacturing company of this city, who have been missing since Wednesday are believed to be in Chicago. Their father was to leave today with a policeman in search of them.

Early reports that mysterious automobiles were seen in the vicinity of the Burk home at about the time the girls disappeared and that they may have been kidnapped were not entertained by members of the family.

The theory that the two planned their flight is based on a bill for some clothing which the girls had purchased and charged to their father. The two also had $15 in their possession at the time of their disappearance.

Cured by a Native Herb

On board a vessel bound for India recently a man was bitten by a poisonous reptile; both the ship doctor and a famous surgeon failed to control the poison fast spreading through his system.

In a day the vessel reached port. An Indian medicine man was sent for, who produced a native herb which quickly allayed the poison and the man's life was saved.

Roots and herbs are nature's assistants in combating disease. That well-known medicine for ailments peculiar to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is prepared from roots and herbs possessing medicinal properties of great value in the treatment of such ailments.

This is proved by the letters of recommendation we are continually publishing in this paper for it.—Advertisement.

The wreck occurred at 4:47 a. m. and was caused by a broken rail.

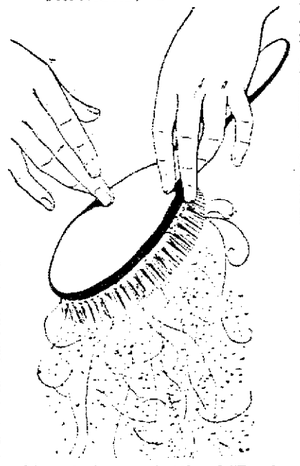

There were ninety passengers on the train and many of them were asleep in their berths and did not know what had happened, some not being awakened. One one passenger T. Spencer, of Atlantic City, was injured.

LAY CORNERSTONE FOR NEW CHURCH

New Building Planned for Community Near the State Hospital.

Initial Steps to Be Taken at Service Held Sunday, April 2.

A new church is being started in the community near the state hospital and the cornerstone of the new building will be laid next Sunday, April 2. The Methodist Episcopal church is backing the movement with missionary money, and the name of St. Luke's M. E. has been given to the charge. This community has more than doubled its population in the last five years, and now numbers more than thirty families.

The real beginnings of this church were launched last year by J. F. Boeye, superintendent of the Lincoln district. Owing to the absence of a building other than a private home, it was necessary to abandon the plan temporarily. Last fall, however, a religious survey was made to determine the need of a church in the community, and basing their action upon the findings of this survey, the Methodist church advanced a part of the money necessary to prepare a basement for temporary use.

Cornerstone laying services will be held next Sunday, April 2, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Dr. J. F. Boeye, Lincoln district superintendent, will be the principal speaker. Other Lincoln pastors will speak. Several musical numbers have been arranged for. The plan is to place in the cornerstone box a daily paper bearing the announcement of the services, photos of the present building and homes in the community, and a list of those present at the service.

Warn Manufacturers Not to Donate Money

Nebraska manufacturers who are approached by firms alleged to be organized for the purpose of putting reduced passenger fare plans before the interstate commerce commission are advised to thoroughly investigate the organization and its agents before contributing money, in the current bulletin of the Nebraska Manufacturers' association. The warning follows the disclosure here of a number of solicitors working toward this end.

"The Merchants' association of New York city states that there are legitimate agencies working on the lower fare plan in legitimate ways, but if a solicitor appears questionable the names of officers, constitution and by-laws of the organization he represents should be requested," says the statement.

FAITH IN LINCOLN.

Every business man, every skilled workman, every man whose happiness and success in life depends upon future Lincoln, should read with complete satisfaction the report of building activities in this city for the present month. The record shows that up until noon, Thursday, one hundred and thirty-six building permits had been issued, which was greater than any previous month in the past five years, and so far as records show, greater than ever before in the history of Lincoln.

The issue of permits total $266,390, or more than double a year ago March. The significant fact is, however, that most of the permits were for residences, there being no unusually large buildings to swell the figures. The total of permits amounted to more in dollars for the month of February, but permits for several large buildings were issued then. According to the Monthly Review, issued by the Federal Reserve bank of Kansas City for the Tenth district, Lincoln led by far the nineteen important cities of the district in the matter of building increase for February, 1922, as compared with the same month in 1921. Lincoln's February increase in building activity was 2,073.2 per cent. The estimated expenditures for new construction as provided for in the building permits in February were more than $600,000, being exceeded only by Kansas City and Denver.

Now what does this mean to the average resident of Lincoln, to the man who is connected with a manufacturing or jobbing house down in the wholesale district, to the business man or professional man in the retail district, to the home owner or to the man who is dreaming of owning his own home? Emphatically this, that Lincoln is forging ahead, that her industrial interests are branching out, that her volume of retail business is growing, that there are more people to own more homes.

There were few cities better able to weather the uncertain times which followed the war. Lincoln had no war industries to lose; she was not wholly dependent upon her factories or any one line of industry; it was more a problem of keeping one's head than anything else. And now, following the storm, comes an era of building activity which cannot be wholly explained by saying that it is merely a "catch up" process. True, Lincoln, as all cities, got behind with her building during the war, but even a cursory survey of the construction projects now under way or about to be started will reveal the fact that the city is enjoying a steady active and natural growth. Taking into account the accessibility of the thousands of fertile acres lying on every side of Lincoln, it is not a stretch of the imagination to picture Lincoln as a city of 100,000 souls in the near future.

There are at this time two very important questions before the people of Lincoln which should be solved by the citizens with the Lincoln of tomorrow in view, the Lincoln of one hundred thousand population. The zoning ordinance is tenfold important because Lincoln is growing and her building problems will multiply and become more complex than in the past; they will increase with such rapidity that they cannot be solved individually and haphazard construction is sure to follow. Second, the Lincoln of tomorrow will need more breathing space, more park and playground room, than the already overcrowded Antelope park can supply. Whole blocks of houses cannot be confiscated and torn down to make additional playgrounds; the thing to do is to acquire these playgrounds now and be prepared when greater Lincoln is a reality and the playground spaces are imperative.

MIXED JURIES.

The popular objection to mixed juries, especially as the system has worked out on the Pacific coast, is that they do not agree. Some argue that a man will set aside his moral judgments and decide a case according to facts presented and technicalities of the law where as a woman makes up her mind in accordance with that indefinable law of "woman's intuition" or according to her opinions of personal justice. But the reasons for hung juries are non-essential so far as reviewing the advisability or inadvisability of men and women serving in the same jury box.

For that matter, there seems to be an even more sound criticism than the fact that hung juries result. In St. Paul not long ago five women were locked over night in a jury room with seven men, the cots on which they slept being separated by a thin curtain. A similar instance occurred in Trenton, N. J., recently, and one of the women described the experience as follows:

"We tried for several hours to reach a verdict, but in vain. Then we sent out for cards and newspapers and played cards with the men and read the papers. After we got tired of this we took the cushions off the seats and took naps about the room. The men were very considerate of us. All the women accepted the experience good naturedly, but some of them expressed anxiety as to how matters were going at home. One woman told me her husband had put the children to bed and in the morning had dressed them, prepared their breakfast and sent them to school."

Commenting upon this particular case in New Jersey, the New York Herald makes this caustic comment: "There's a picture of progress and emancipation for you! The wife passing the night miserably in a jury room where half the jurors are men while the husband, at home, dresses the children and prepares their breakfast."

In the case of the Minnesota incident, the officials were severely criticised for not putting the women in one room and the men in another. The governor declared that he would never permit his wife to serve on a jury. But it is rather futile to blame the officials. For centuries it has been the custom to keep the jury together and the counsel for the losing side of the case would most certainly claim a mistrial. It is obvious that provision by law would be necessary to separate juries.

Some states, including Nebraska, have not as yet opened the jury gate to women. Experiences in states where women do serve on the jury have proved conclusively that despite the "new emancipation" of women, there are serious obstacles to mixed juries. It has been suggested that if women are to serve on juries, such juries should not be mixed but all women. This would lessen a number of the objections, but the problem is one which need not be solved immediately, in states in which women are not called to jury service. Such states may do well to delay action until other states have tried the experiment more thoroughly.

ADVICE FROM SECRETARY DAVIS.

On the eve of the nation-wide soft coal strike, Secretary of Labor Davis declares the walkout will be no excuse for any advance in the price of coal and urges the public to report any such increases to Attorney General Daugherty. There has been a persistent rumor that the real cause of the strike is the desire of operators to sell the coal on hand at a higher price, using the tieup as an excuse for the advance. It is known that in the past, in certain cases at least, that operators and miners have had an understanding and the latter have struck simply to permit the operator to break his contract and then raise the price of coal. A ten-day strike, in most cases, will give an operator an excuse for breaking his contract with coal dealers.

In the present strike situation, it is known that most industries are well supplied with coal and that there is an over-production in the bituminous coal business. Furthermore, it is true, as Mr. Davis says in his final statement prior to the strike, the operators have virtually forced the miners to walkout; at least, they have brazenly broken their contracts with the miners and have refused to give a satisfactory explanation of their side of the controversy.

While it is probably true that both sides of the dispute have their faults, the fact remains that the miners have attempted to put before the public their views on the situation and for this reason have removed the stigma of bad faith in the eyes of the people.

The attempt of the Portuguese aviators to span the Atlantic is welcomed, and even though they do not succeed, they will be performing a distinct service to the reading public. The Fatty Arbuckle trial is getting a bit stale and as for the Taylor mystery, the murderer was "about" captured so many times that his actual capture would probably cause no interest.

What the world seems to need most right now is someone who can write treaties that say what they mean.

The college president who said some time ago that people should not leave their intelligence at home when they went out for an evening's pleasure certainly did not have in mind an evening spent at the movies.

Rambling through Nebraska.

BY C. DURANT JONES.

W. W. Wenstrand, a merchant in Stratton now, but who was formerly county attorney in Saunders county, has some pronounced views on the non-partisan league, some of which grew out of his experience with some of the league's organizers. Not long after he had removed from Wahoo to Stratton, an organizer who was working in Stratton, announced that the league had thrown Mr. Wenstrand out of Saunders county and Mr. Wenstrand called him down for the slander and drew from him a public apology. He has views fully as pronounced upon the foreign language law, and although he is of Swedish ancestry, his parents having been born in Sweden, yet he believes that one language is enough for America and that the supreme court will sustain the law. Some of his own countrymen insist upon retaining the right to teach their native language, and that among them, in his work as food administrator, he discovered many cases of divided sympathizers. He believes heartily in the merits of the language law, and that with its accepance by all foreign born peoples, there will be a distinctive advance in Americanism.

Nels P. Nelson is the janitor of the public schools at Trenton. He is not only a janitor but he is a good one. And that isn't all. When it came to a matter of contracting for next year, he told the school board something like this:

"If you want me to take that position next year, you will need to reduce my salary. The readjustment is under way and it is no more than right that I should have my salary reduced, in keeping with prices in everything else."

If he had insisted upon a raise or upon keeping the salary at the old figure, the incident would not have been mentioned in this column. But as it now stands, it is here, and there is but one thing more to add and that is, that Mr. Nelson will probably have no difficulty in holding down a position as long as he wants it.

Culbertson is right proud of its new community chorus, the organization of which is pretty well under way. It is one of the largest in the state, and is holding weekly rehearsals. For it plans to open its public work by furnishing the music for the graduation exercises this spring, and promises to show some excellent work by the time commencement rolls around.

The American Legion at Holdrege put on a side-splitting entertainment the other evening, which they claim was the biggest laugh-producing ever held in the town. It was a "Liar's Contest" and there were a large number of contestants participating. Of course they had to limit the contestants to their own members and to the local post for if the contest had been thrown open to the state, the entertainment would not have been over yet. Prizes were offered to the most proficient although it was not announced in advance just what the prizes were to be. The judges finally announced the winners and asked them to step forward and receive the prizes.

When they did so, they were gravely informed that the biggest lie of the evening was that of promising a prize for none was to be given.

Perhaps someone can tell us why it is, that when a new postmaster is appointed, in the third class offices, he is required by Uncle Sam to buy suitable fixtures, at his own expense. That is what he has to do, and then Uncle Sam takes all the box rent that is collected. When the incumbent's time expires, he has on hands a set of fixtures and he may either keep them, or sell them to his successor, provided they can agree upon the price. In other words, the postmaster has his private funds invested during the term of his office, for which he gets no interest, in property out of which Uncle Sam gets all the benefit and the office holder must stand the depreciation. Our Uncle Samuel is a mighty good old man, but he does do some funny things sometimes.

The Benkelman Post says that fully seventy-five per cent of the 1921 corn crop is still in the cribs in that community, and that the farmers are not doing much selling. A further surprising fact is noted by that paper, in that much of the 1920 crop is still in the cribs also. The farmers in that section are so situated that they are not compelled to sell, and the increasing price looks so good to them that they are inclined to hold their crop until they get good and ready to dispose of it.

W. R. Wicke, county agent of Furnas county, who makes his headquarters at Beaver City, says that the fight against the county agent which had developed in some counties, has very largely died down. But one county agent in the state was compelled to resign by the agitation, and it is believed that the fight over the state was largely the result of some unfavorable propoganda, and was based on a misunderstanding. Because the farm bureau federation and the county agent work together, some farmers were led to believe that if they dropped their membership in the farm bureau, it would deprive them of the assistance of the county agent. The farm bureau federation membership fees have been $10 heretofore, and the hard times compelled many of the farmers to drop out. Furnas county cut its membership fee to $5, eliminating that portion of the fee which ordinarily would go to the county, until money conditions get a little easier. When the farmers understand that to participate in the benefits of the county agent's work, membership in the farm bureau federation is not necessary, the opposition to the county agent soon disappeared to a very large extent. Both agencies have done some mighty good work in Nebraska and as the farmers learn more of the value of the county agent, and make use of the facilities of his office, they will not think of trying to get along without him.

THIS IS A RARE BOOK.

(From the Mentor.)

In the romance of rare books a thousand and one strange and almost incerdible tales are involved. A clerk in a Boston bookstore happened to read that the only known copy of Edgar Allan Poe's "Tamerlane" was in the possession of the British Museum. Believing that to be impeachable, he made up his mind that he would hunt for a second copy.

On his way to lunch he stopped at a second hand book stall and began to rummage as of little value, had been tossed haphazard into a counter box. The first title to catch his eye was "Tamerlane and Other Poems, by a Bostonian, 1827." The dealer was selling from that box in lots of 10. The clerk bought "Tamerlane" and nine other volumes for $1.50. Soon after he sold the "Tamerlane" for $1,950. It was later resold for $2,050 and then for $2,400. At the latest sale it brought $11,000. There is current a story that only a few months ago a Yale undergraduate bought in Waterbury, Conn., two books for $1.25, and that for them he has been offered $3,000.

POWER OF SINCERITY.

(Washington Gladden.)

Let us remember that the great secret of clear expression is sincerity. If your deepest desire is to speak the truth, your utterance will have the beauty and the power which belong to sincere speech. Say the thing that you know, the thing that you heartily believe, and say nothing else. Let all your discipline in speaking or writing be a discipline in truth telling. Don't talk against conviction or without conviction. Don't amuse yourself by trying to see if you cannot make a strong argument for a false position. Don't talk for effect. Don't talk for popularity. Don't talk for victory. Speak the thing that you have found to be true, in your own experience, or the thing which with the best light you can get, you believe to be true.

THE COST OF A CROWN.

The frosts of winter daunt me not,
I face them with a smile.
Then seek a radiator hot,
And hug it for awhile.
Ere long I'm warm and quite content
And gaily do my stunt,
And wonder why one ever went
Another clime to hunt.
But these spring snowfalls get me right;
I hate this awful slush,
To paddle round from morn till night
In lakes of icy mush
Gives me cold feet, I'm free to say,
And fills my soul with woe;
It makes me want to go and stay
Where there is never snow.
It drives me early to my den
My clammy feet to soak
Till circulation starts again—
I'll say this is no joke.
But sunshine follows ev'ry snow,
As well as ev'ry rain;
I know the slush will quickly go:
It will be dry again.
I know for ev'ry flake that falls
A daisy sweet will blow,
And though the prospect now appalls
And I am wrapt in woe.
Wild roses soon will scent the air
And meadow larks will sing:
Flowers will be blooming ev'rywhere.
A crown for royal Spring.—

It Depends on When You Live.

The creed o' the 1922-model flapper is "anything that is not mid-Victorian." For perfect and demure maidens, we go back to the mid-Victorian period. But now comes the Saturday Review an dreprints an article on "The Girl of the Period," that appeared in 1868. It was written by Mrs. E. Lynn Linton, a clever and once well known novelist. She laments the vanishing of "the fair young girl of the past," and in this alarming manner describes the awful girl of 1868:

"The girl of the period is a creature who dyes her hair and paints her face as the first articles o' her personal religion; whose sole idea of life is plenty of fun and luxury; and whose dress is the object of such thought and intellect as she possesses. * * * The girl of the period has done away with such moral muffishness as consideration for others, or regard for counsel and rebuke. * * * If a sensible fashion lifts a gown out o' the mud, she raises hers midway to her knee. * * * Talking slang as glibly as a man, and by preference leading the conversation to doubtful subjects.

In 1968 the shocked elders will be telling about the modest, demure maids of 1922.

O, Liberty, what rotten hooch the country buys in thy name.

We warn infant republics to avoid paternal government. See America nursed

The "nameless pathos" in the air of spring isn't nameless now. It's a yearning for new tires.

Too many patriots claim to be supporters of the government when they are merely holding it up.

Backbone won't get you anywhere, however, if the knot at the top of it is made of the same material.

Modesty is a virtue, doubtless, but the man who blows his own horn usually is able to raise the wind

PAROLE IS ASKED BY MRS DEHART

Convict Mother Says Husband Killed Mize in Self Defense.

Mrs. Della DeHart, woman convict from Holt county who was transferred to the orthopedic hospital and gave birth to a baby girl there a month ago, is now asking to have her minimum sentence of one year cut down so that she may be paroled to a woman at Burwell, Mrs. E. Hallock, who runs a hotel there.

Her written application is on file with State Parole Officer Harmon and will be heard by the board of pardons at its meeting in May It was not presented in time to be included at the April hearing. Mrs Dehart's minimum sentence with good time deducted, would run for two or three months longer.

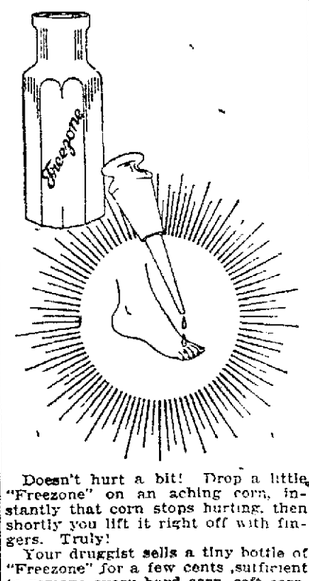

In her statement to the board, she claims that her husband killed John Mize with a hammer in defending himself from the latter's attack, after Mize had made indecent proposals to herself and she called to her husband to protect her. Rolla Dehart, the husband, is serving a life term in the penitentiary.

The case of Mrs. Dehart has been a puzzling one to the state authorities, on account of her recent motherhood and the undesirability of taking her young child to the penitentiary. There has been some talk of transferring her to the women's reformatory at York or the women's industrial home at Milford.

BEATRICE.—Horticulturalists in this locality state that prospects for a fruit crop were never brighter at this season of the year. Especially is this true of cherries and other small fruit, but they state there is yet plenty of time for old Jack Frost to do his worst.

FAIRBURY WOMAN WINNER OF CAKE RECIPE AWARD

Mrs. R. W. Kurth Takes First Place With Recipe for Sponge Cake.

Miss LaRue Temple of Bethany Second—Part Judged Next Week.

Mrs. R. W. Kurth of Fairbury is the winner of first prize in the cake recipe competition this week, and the second prize goes to Miss LaRue Temple of Bethany. Such a large number of cake recipes came in to the recipe editor that it was necessary to divide them into two classes, one group for this week and one for next week. Angel food, sponge and chocolate cake recipes were judged for today's competition and the fruit or spice, and plain cake recipes will be judged next week.

The first prize was taken by a sponge cake recipe submitted by Mrs. Kurth and the second prize by Miss Temple's recipe for chocolate cake.

The foods committee from the home economics department of the state university, of which Miss Margaret Fedde is chairman, which has charge of the judging, made the following decision:

The Winning Recipes.

The winning recipes are as follows:

Sponge cake—Six egg yolks; 1 cup sugar, 1 cup flour; ½ tablespoon grated lemon rind; 6 egg whites; 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Beat the egg yolks until thick and add the sugar very gradually, beating during the addition. Mix in the lemon juice, grated rind and one half of the beaten whites. Add flour and the rest of the whites, folding them in very carefully. A sponge cake must not be beaten, but continue the folding motion until thoroughly mixed. Put the mixture in an unoiled pan and bake in an oven at a low temperature (340 degrees Fahrenheit) for forty-five minutes to one hour. Invert pan on a cake cooler till cool before taking it out of the pan.

Chocolate cake—First part: 2 squares chocolate; 1 cup hot water; 1 cup sugar. Second part: 1 cup sugar; ½ cup butter; 2 eggs; 1 cup sour milk; 1 teaspoon soda; 2 cups flour; 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix ingredients of first part, cook until a syrup of medium consistency is formed and set aside to cool. For the second part, cream butter, add sugar and cream again. Separate yolks and whites of eggs. Add beaten yolk to sugar and butter. Next add milk. Have flour and soda sifted together and add to mixtures. Add chocolate mixture. Lastly add vanilla and fold in beaten whites. Bake in layers.

Marshmallow filling for chocolate cake—One cup sugar; 3 tablespoons cold water; 1 egg white (unbeaten) 14 marshmallows. Have boiling water in lower part of double boiler. Place in top part first three ingredients. Begin beating at once with Dover egg beater. Beat seven minutes. Remove from boiling water and add marshmallows. Beat until cold and ready to stiffen.

Honorable Mention

These recipes won honorable mention:

Devil's Food cake—One fourth cup shortening; 1 cup sugar; 2½ squares chocolate; ½ cup mashed potatoes; 1 egg; 3-8 cup milk, 1 1-4 cups flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; ½ cup nuts (chopped fine); ½ teaspoon vanilla extract. Cream the shortening; add sugar, melted chocolate and mashed potatoes; mix well. Beat egg separately and add yolk; add milk; add flour and baking powder which have been sifted together; beat well. Add nuts, vanilla and beaten white of egg; mix thoroughly. Bake in greased shallow tins in moderate oven twenty-five to thirty-five minutes. Cover with marshmallow icing.

Marshmallow Icing—Three-fourths cup granulated sugar; 1-3 cup water; 6 or 8 marshmallows; white of 1 egg; few drops of vanilla extract.

Brownstone Front cake—Put into a pan: 1 cup sugar; ½ cup sweet milk, ½ cup chipped chocolate, 1 teaspoon vanilla, yolk of 1 egg; mix well and let come to a boil, then let cool. Cream ½ cup sugar, ½ cup butter, add yolks of 2 eggs unbeaten; alternate ½ cup milk with 2 cups flour to which have been added 1 teaspoon soda and 2 teaspoons corn starch (the flour should be sifted before measuring). To this add the mixture that you let come to a boil and beat well. Lastly add the whites of two eggs that have been beaten stiff. Bake in two layers in a moderate oven.

Icing for Brownstone Front cake—A double boiler and Dover egg beater are necessary to make a success of this frosting. Put 1 unbeaten egg white; 7-8 cup of sugar and 2 tablespoons water in the upper part of the boiler, set over warm water. Begin beating at once with the Dover beater and cook and beat seven minutes. Add 12 marshmallows cut up. Remove and beat with a spoon till smooth and cool enough to hold its shape. After icing is spread, decorate cake with pecan nuts.

No Trouble at All Cake—1½ cup sugar; ½ cup butter; ½ cup chocolate, ½ cup water, ½ cup cream; 1 teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon vanilla 2 cups flour.

Icing—Stir powdered sugar, cream and vanilla together. Stir in butter the size of an egg and heat till creamy.

Chocolate Sponge cake—One half cup of butter, 2 level cups confectioner's sugar; 4 eggs, separated; 2 squares unsweetened chocolate; 4 level teaspoons good baking powder; 2 1-3 level cups pastry flour, ½ teaspoon salt; 1 cup sweet milk; 1-4 teaspoon vanilla extract. Cream the butter; add 1 cup sugar gradually while stirring constantly. Beat the yolks of eggs until thick and lemon tinted; add to them the second cup sugar while beating constantly; then combine the two mixtures. Melt chocolate over hot water, cool and add to mixture. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add alternately with milk to

How to make GOOD COFFEE

THE goodness of Coffee depends very largely on the care with which it is made. Read the following six rules carefully. They may enable you to make even better Coffee than you are now enjoying.

Keep Your Coffee Air-tight

1 Roasted Coffee loses its flavor rapidly, especially after it is ground. All Coffee, and especially Ground Coffee, should be kept in a container that is moisture-proof and as nearly air-tight as possible.

Measure Carefully

2 The amount of Coffee to use depends upon the strength you like. Experiment until you find just the amount of Coffee that suits your taste, then stick to it. Don't guess! Measure proportions carefully, both Coffee and water.

Use Grounds Only Once

3 Don't leave the Coffee grounds in the pot and re-steep for the next meal. Used Coffee grounds are of no more value in making good Coffee than ashes in building a fire.

Use Boiling Water

4 The water used in making Coffee should come to a full boil before it is taken from the fire and poured into the Coffee pot. But don't let the water and the ground bean boil together after they are mixed. Boil your water, but don't boil your Coffee!

Serve at Once

5 Many a pot of perfect Coffee has been ruined by letting it cool. If you must wait, keep the Coffee piping hot, but never let it boil. Re-cooking injures the flavor.

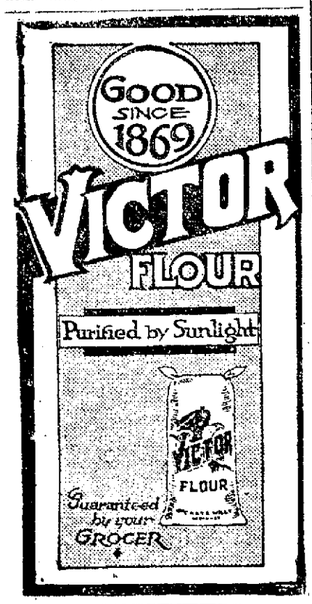

Scour the Coffee Pot

6 It is not enough to give the pot a hurried rinse and set it away to dry. Scour it even more carefully than other cooking utensils.

If you use a percolator, pay particular attention to the little tube through which the hot water rises to spray over the grounds. Scrub it with the wire-handled brush that comes for the purpose.

If you use a drip pot with a filter bag, rinse the bag clean in cool—never hot—water. Keep the bag sweet by submerging it in cold water when not in use. Renew filter bags frequently.

This advertisement is part of an educational campaign conducted by the leading Coffee merchants of the United States in co-operation with the planters of the State of Sao Paulo, Brazil, which produces more than half of all the Coffee used in the United States of America.—Joint Coffee Trade Publicity Committee, 74 Wall Street, New York.

Verte Sauce for the Shad

Melt two tablespoons butter, add three tablespoons flour, and pour on, gradually, one cup white stock. Season, with salt and pepper, and one-half tablespoon lemon juice. Color green, with equal parts of parsley and cooked spinach, finely chopped, pounded in a mortar, and forced through cheese cloth.

Cucumber Ribbons

Cut a thick slice from both ends of cucumbers and pare; then cut in one-fourth inch slices. Cut slices round and round to form ribbons, using a small, sharp knife. Plunge into cold water and let stand one-half hour. Drain and pour over French Dressing.

Cheese Eggs

1½ cups grated cheese. ½ Teaspoon salt. Few grains cayenne. 1 tablespoon flour.

Mix first three ingredients, and add whites of eggs, beaten until stiff. Shape as small eggs, roll in very fine cracker crumbs, fry in deep fat and drain. Arrange on a folded napkin and serve.

When a Girl Marries

by Ann Lisle

CHPTER 604.

"'Twould be a strange thing, Alanna, if you and I were not friends," said Pat, using the old name by which he always called me from the days when he realized how deeply I longed to restore to him and Virginia their lost happiness.

"Yes," I repeated, staring straight ahead as Tony's car swung along through traffic. "It would be strange."

But though I echoed his words, I didn't repeat their spirit. Indeed, there was a question in my voice. Pat answered the spirit rather than the substance of what I'd said.

"But if you've been misdoubting this friendship of mine all through long, lonely months, there's never a word I can say to defend myself. Though I wish there was the word I might say to—keep you from getting cynical over the ingratitude of folks."

Something in his voice made me swing square around and stare hard at him. The twinkle was gone from those big blue eyes of his. Instead there was a quiet seriousness which darkened his gaze to an intense black, not unlike the depth Jim's eyes take on when he's in deadly earnest.

"We've understood each other before—without words," suggested Pat.

I didn't answer. I couldn't be sure how much he meant me to read into his words. Perhaps he thought I was failing to take in their potentialities. For abruptly he changed to a clear frankness. There was a guarded slowness to his speech—a quiet feeling of his way—which made clear how hard this was for Pat.

"If Jim and some one he loved lost the way to each other's hearts for a time, Alanna, wouldn't you think twice and again before you made a single move that might turn out to be wrong? Wouldn't you be afraid of driving them further apart by taking sides or doing anything at all to antagonize folks who were after seeing things at a bad slant? Things might themselves better when no one interferes."

Suddenly everything was clear to me. I felt a rush of the old affection for Pat. With a generous impulse, for which I can never be sufficiently thankful, I clasped my hands and leaned forward to say in a low but earnest tone:

"Oh, Pat—I do understand without another word from you! I guess I've been ready to understand all along at just a word. You've said it now—and the old friendship is mine again. I know it. Indeed I'd hate to have Jim take sides against me—even if I were all wrong."

Pat's face twinkled. But he turned it sternly away, and when he answered in a low, gentle voice I knew that he was answering on his loyalty to his wife, and I don't like him a bit less for it, though in this case I felt he ought to be taking sides against her.

"Jeanie would feel badly to have me take sides against her—if she were right"—he insisted simply.

I locked my lips. It wasn't stubbornness as I then [illegible] guessed. It was just a determination not to defend myself nor to break down Pat's faith in his wife. After a moment I found the words I could trust myself to say. Twisting my lips with the whimsical oddity of it I retorted:

"The more you [illegible] me in the wrong, Pat, the better the compliment of your coming to me—be[illegible] this. I thank you. And you know I trust you."

"Then you won't let yourself be hurt, or grieved, beyond bearing by what I have to say?" Pat questioned.

A little spasm of fear twisted at my nerves. I actually felt them jump.

"Go to it!" I cried, trying to be the good sport I didn't feel a bit like. "I'll grin and bear anything—I have to."

"Well, then Alanna, you know there's always after being what they call a real cause and an immediate cause of every war. And so with this visit here in the limousine under the stage management of Sturges-Norreys & Co. The real cause—the reason back of my coming—is that I'm lonely for your friendly self—I'm a-wearying for you."

Pat twinkled like his old buoyant self. In another minute he tensed down to curt seriousness.

"The immediate cause of our meeting is this Anne. Today a gay little body blew into my office with a letter from Jim to —Jeanie."

"Rosa Cordova!" I gasped, wondering how much of Rosa's mission was revealed to Pat.

Pat avoided my eye as he acknowledged

"The same. You see, as far as Jim's after knowing you're living with us. You don't have to think with even a moment's bitterness of Mrs. Cordova bearing this formal note to Jeanie and none, perhaps, to you. 'Tis largely I don't doubt, because Jim knows that our Jeanie is rather a punctilious person."

"The head of the family," I quoted without bitterness.

"Precisely," replied Pat, turning his head away again, as he has a fashion of doing when he wants to hide one of his ever-ready twinkles and to give an impression of tense seriousness. "Well, then, the little creature couldn't raise Jeanie on the telephone because she happened to be off for the day at a charity bazaar and had given the maids a picnic with the car at their disposal."

"Very kind," I said, the more stiffly because of this proof that Virginia has it in her heart to consider other folks even if she ignores me.

This time Pat didn't deny me a glimpse of the twinkle.

"The hummingbird creature appeared quite distraught and helpless. In her quaint and slightly overdone broken English she explained that 'Hi-may' which seems to be her cute way of pronouncing James, hadn't told her of a hotel and that she was sure her husband wouldn't want her to be alone. Then she produced the letter. It gave a clear impression that Jim and the lady's husband are great pals and that he expects us to take the fair Rosa under our roof."

"Pat!" I gasped. "Of course that's impossible. It's asking too much."

"Is it?" asked Pat.

"Why—yes! She's here to find out—about Virginia and me. If she were with you"——

"That, of course, would have to be guarded against," agreed Pat very gravely. "But from a number of points of view I consider it desirable to carry out the request so clearly expressed in Jim's letter—which was unsealed, by the way, so the fair Rosa couldn't escape knowing the contents. Her staying with us this evening at least is an accomplished fact. I'm meeting Mrs. Cordova at the station and taking her out to Dreamwold now."

"But Virginia?" I protested.

"Virginia meets us at the other end of the line. I caught her at the Storrows'. I thought it was—up to me—to tell you the facts, Alanna. I can't make any decisions for you. If you want help—will you be calling me up in the morning and accepting the invitation to lunch I now venture to offer?"

"Can't you get Virginia to meet me half way?" I asked.

"It's your problem, Anne. You must meet it."

It didn't need the severity of Pat's tone to tell me how truly this is my problem—my big problem.

CHAPTER LXXI.

The next day Helen had Uncle Dan's check cashed at Terriberry's store.

She folded the one hundred and fifty dollars up carefully and tucked them into the front of her blouse.

It was agreeable to reflect that she could make young Daniel Sloane happy by enabling him to help the woman he loved.

It also increased Helen's own self-respect to be able at last to pay every cent of her room rent. If Mrs. Ovinton complained further of gossip concerning the two cousins under her roof, one of them could declare her willingness to move to another lodging place.

Helen thought of this possibility with a sense of relief. She had an inexplicable regret that her cousin was in the same house with herself.

When in his presence she pitied him. Away from him, she shrank from seeing him.

Yet his gentle, pleading manner had won her promise to meet and walk with him on Sunday afternoon.

Today was Saturday—a short day in the store.

Helen would see her cousin as soon as possible after she reached home and give him the money for which he would be grateful.

And tomorrow she would keep her promise to take a walk with him.

It was almost noon when Miss Dalrymple informed her that she was wanted on the telephone.

"I do not know whether its a business of a personal call," the spinster remarked. "It is a man, and he simply asked to speak to Miss Gorman."

"Thank you!" Helen said.

She hurried to the instrument, glad to note that her employer had moved out of hearing of the telephone conversation.

"Who is it?" Helen asked, as she took up the receiver.

She suppressed a start of surprise as she recognized the voice at the other end of the wire.

Eager to See Her.

"This is Tom," Dr. Andrews said. "I have taken the liberty of calling you up because I do not want to miss the chance of seeing you on the first opportunity I can make. Are you disengaged for tomorrow afternoon?"

Helen thought swiftly before replying. Indignation seized her at the remembrance of her faith in this man of how he and Elizabeth had deceived her, and how near she had come to making a fool of herself in letting Andrews see that she cared more for him han for anyone else—of how he had led her to fancy that he felt an especial interest in her.

And all the time he had been in love with Betty—had known that Betty was going to discard Willard and marry him!

How dared he attempt to make an angagement with her—Helen Gorman—under such circumstances?

The man repeated the question.

"Have you any engagement for tomorrow afternoon? If not, may I take you for a drive out of town?"

"My small car is closed so you will not feel the cold, I think. It occurred to me that it would be rather jolly to stop somewhere for a bite of supper before going home. I have been working hard this week—and I am taking tomorrow afternoon and evening off. This is the first chance I have had for any real pleasure since I saw you on the night we had dinner together."

Only for an instant was the girl tempted to think of how alluring the invitation was. This temptation was lost in a gush of resentment.

"Thank you," she said coldly "but I cannot accept your invitation."

"Oh—can't you?"

The voice sounded so regretful that the listener was impressed by the fact that the speaker was an excellent actor."

"I am awfully sorry," he went on. "I should have asked you earlier in order to make sure that you would have the afternoon free. But I have had a couple of serious cases that might have needed me tomorrow. But now both are improving satisfactory—so I am quite sure I can get away. Can't I persuade you to think better of your decision?"

"Thank you," the girl said stiffly. "But I have a previous engagement for tomorrow afternoon—one made several days ago."

"And it can't be brooken? Excuse me, but I mean is it so pleasant that you want to keep it? If not couldn't it be broken?"

The hot blood rushed to Helen's face. How insistent this man was in spite of the deception he and Elizabeth had practiced upon her! He must consider her a fool to be cajoled into doing that which she had refused to do. Her anger made her throw prudence to the winds.

"I have no desire to break it," she said quickly. "It is with a friend." She paused. She must let Andrews know that the "friend was a man. "Moreover," she added, "I promised him to keep it. It means a great deal to him. I do not flatter myself that my acceptance of your invitation could bring you any pleasure."

There was an instant's silence. The man's voice was strained and unnatural when he replied.

"I do not quite understand what you mean," he said. "I do not want to force my presence upon you, but if I have displeased you I wish you would give me an opportunity to explain.

"It really is not necessary," was the brusque reply. "Good-bye!"

Only Part of Cake Recipes Are Judged

Owing to the fact that so many cake recipes were submitted a week ago, the judges in the home economics department at the State Farm, University of Nebraska, found it necessary to pass only on a part this week.

The recipes were classified in two divisions and the second division will be judged during the coming week, announcement of the prize winners in this class being made a week from today.

Recipes for angel food, sponge and chocolate cake were judged this week, while fruit or spice and plain cake recipes will be judged during the coming week. Anyone desiring to submit a recipe for fruit or spice or plain cake must address them to the recipe editor of The Star and mail them so they reach this office before Tuesday noon, April 4. Recipes reaching this office after that date cannot be accepted.

For the best recipe The Lincoln Star will pay $2 and for the second best $1.

RIOTING IN RUSSIA.

MOSCOW, March 31.—Rioting was reported from various places today as a result of the government's orders that church treasures be contributed for famine relief. Troops were called out to prevent the seizure of religious relics.

FAIRBURY WOMAN WINNER OF CAKE RECIPE AWARD

mixture; add extract. Then cut and fold in the whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Beat until ingredients are thoroughly blended. Bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes.

This cake is good with marshmallow icing made thus: Forty marshmallows 1 level cup sugar; 1 level cup water, 1 egg white; 1 teaspoon orange extract. Melt marshmallows in double boiler. Cook sugar and water until soft ball is formed in cold water. Pour on the stiffly beaten white of egg mixed with ½ teaspoon baking powder. Add melted marshmallows, flavoring and beat to consistency to spread on cake.

Sunshine cake—Sift, measure and set aside 1 cup sugar and 1 cup flour. Break the whites of 6 eggs into a mixing bowl and the yolks into a smaller bowl. Beat the whites until they foam, then add a teaspoon cream of tartar and beat until white and glistening. Beat the yolks to a stiff froth, add the sugar to the whites and beat again. Then add flavoring. Stir the flour in lightly. Bake as angel food.

Sponge cake—Six eggs: 1 cup granulated sugar; rind of half a lemon; 2 tablespoons of lemon juice; 1 cup flour; 1 teaspoon of baking powder. ½ teaspoon salt. Beat egg yolk until thick. Add gradually sifted sugar, then grated lemon rind, lemon juice and one half of beaten whites. Mix well. Carefully fold in flour which has been sifted with baking powder and salt, add remainder of whites and mix lightly. Bake in ungreased angel food cake tin, in moderate oven, thirty-five to forty-five minutes.

Angel Food cake—Whites of 10 eggs beaten stiff; 1½ cup fine granulated sugar; 1 cup cake flour; ½ teaspoon cream of tartar; 1-4 teaspoon vanilla. Beat eggs half stiff, then add the cream of tartar and beat very stiff. Sift the flour and sugar four times separately. To the beaten eggs and cream of tartar add the sugar, then vanilla; and lastly add the flour and fold lightly through. Do not stir, just fold in. Bake in loaf about forty minutes in a very slow oven. Use regular angel food pan.

Sponge cake—Five egg yolks; 1 cup sugar; 1 teaspoon lemon extract; 5 egg whites, 1 cup flour; 1-4 teaspoon salt. Beat the egg yolk until thick and lemon-colored. Add the sugar gradually and continue beating, using a Dover egg beater. Add the extract and whites of the eggs very stiffly beaten. Remove the egg beater and cut and fold the flour which has been sifted four times, the salt having been added to the last sifting. Bake forty-five minutes to one hour in an unbuttered narrow pan in a slow oven. Increase the heat slightly every fifteen minutes. Genuine sponge cake has no baking powder or soda in it.

Angel Food cake—Whites of 9 large or 10 small eggs; 1 1-4 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar; a pinch of salt; 1 cup flour; 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat egg whites until foamy, then add the cream of tartar and the salt; beat until stiff. Stir the sugar sifted four times in the egg whites until well beaten. Add vanilla; then add the flour sifted four times. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven—not too hot a fire. When baked, invert pan on 2 cups, let stand until cold. Do not remove from pan when still warm or it will fall.

Three Egg Angel cake—Mix well and sift together four times: 1 cup sugar, 1 1-3 cup flour, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1-3 teaspoon salt. Add 2-3 cup scalded milk slowly When still hot beating continually; add 1 teaspoon almond or vanilla extract; mix well. Fold in 3 egg whites which have been beaten until light. Turn into ungreased angel cake tin and bake in a very slow oven about forty-five minutes. Remove from oven, invert pan and allow to stand until cold.

DELLA DEHART IN A BIGAMY MIXUP

Married to a Man Who Already Had One Living Wife.

Lived With Him Only a Few Days Before He Was Arrested.

Less than two years before she and her husband were convicted in Holt county for the murder of John Mize and sentenced to the penitentiary, Mrs. Della Dehart was one of the principals in a bigamy case in Loup county, where she married C. M. Cunningham, a Burlington railroad brakeman, on October 1, 1919. She lived with Cunningham a few days and then the pair separated, when it became known that he already had a wife and three children at Aurora.

Cunningham was prosecuted for bigamy in Loup county, pleaded guilty and received a sentence of one to seven years in the penitentiary. He was paroled July 30, 1920, and finally discharged March 24, 1921 returning to his first wife and family.

According to testimony given in the parole case by the present Mrs. Dehart, who was formerly Miss Della Wineteer, she got acquainted with Cunningham at a hotel in Burwell, where she was working. Her home was at Taylor, and it was there that they went to be married.

Had Been Married.

She admitted that a man who lived in Aurora and saw her with Cunningham at a picture show had told her he was married. The next day, she said, she asked Cunningham about it and he told her it was not true and that the man who made the statement had a personal grudge against him. She took Cunningham's word and married him without making any further inquiry.

Shortly after the ceremony at Taylor, the real wife made a trip to Burwell, called on the woman there and informed her of the real situation. During the prosecution the Aurora spouse became reconciled to her husband, and afterward she was instrumental in securing his parole.

Meanwhile, the young woman left Burwell, made the acquaintance of Rolla Dehart and married him. The two were traveling together in a covered wagon when they killed Mize, who accompanied them. As Mrs. Dehart now claims, Mize insulted her and then attacked her husband, who used a hammer in self-defense, with fatal results.

HARD SAUCE.

Cream together 1 heaping tablespoon f butter and ½ cup sugar. And teaspoon of boiling water, beat until light and smooth and flavr with vanilla or lemon, or vinegar to taste. Grated nutmeg over top is delicious.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Would-be Jokes.

Dear Minerva: What should a girl do when her mother-in-law seems to take keen delight in ridiculing her, particularly before her husband and before strangers. My mother-in-law does this very thing. Even at a party or luncheon she will tell of the mistakes I have made in housekeeping and sewing about which I am sensitive of my extravagance in dress, and even makes fun of my religion. Several times I have retorted in heat, but this hurts me a lot more than it does anyone else for it is against my disposition to quarrel. I have tried staying away from her but she telephones and urges me to come over to her house, or else comes to our home. So what can I do.—HATTIE.

A. I presume this is the mother-in-law's idea of a good time, to make cutting remarks at the expense of others without realizing the possible sting and hurt in them. She has a distorted idea of humor, to say the least but she would no doubt be surprised to know you have been hurt by her pleasantries. If such a word can be applied to garrulous jibes. But you have every right to try to defend yourself from her would-be witticisms. Treat her to a system of quiet reserve and dignity. Simply see and hear her not when she chatters on in such poor taste. And if she does not know how to treat you politely, do not respond the next time she urges you to come over. Nor the next. Then when she becomes curious over the withdrawal of your visits, tell her you are tired of being made fun of. Whether with malice aforethough or through simple heedlessness her treatment of you has been unfair and she should be made to realize that.

Isn't This Nice?

Dear Minerva: I am intending to get married so would like to know the proper way of asking the parents for their daughter. How should I start it? They consenting, what should be my answer?—YOURS TRULY.

A. What a refreshing bit of information your letter gives me, that there are some men (at least one man) left in the country who consider the parents at all when seeking the hand of a girl in marriage. The modern ruthless method seems to be for the man and girl to become engaged then announce the news, glad or otherwise, to the parents, and the parents all too often know that parental suggestions are quite out of running. I much prefer the "good old-fashioned" plan in this case, though I am not one of those persons who think all things are good that are old-fashioned.

I would advise you to ask the girl's parents for a few words in private and to go directly to the point with some such remark as "Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So, I would like to secure your permission to marry your daughter; I love her and she loves me and I believe we can be very happy together." Then display a readiness to give the parents assurance of your ability to care for their beloved daughter in a material way, of the cleanliness of your record and references of your character which will give promise that you will make her a good husband, and to answer any questions which they see fit to put to you with patience.

And I wish you very great luck and happiness in your undertaking.

Wants Bird Knowledge.

Dear Minerva: Will some of your readers who are not selling birds please tell me which is best to get for a very dear friend? One dealer said it must be a roller to be the best. I went just a few blocks and another dealer said "no not a roller, as their song is too near alike, you want a Hartz Mountain for they are always the best." My friend wants to start raising birds. I want to help her by having her start with the best, also the ones which are most in demand. Are the pure, very dark yellow or spotted birds most in demand? I ask your readers to tell me as I found each dealer was just trying to sell me the bird he had.—DAN.

Optimism of Youth.

Dear Minerva: I read your Mail every evening after I have my studies and find it a real nice little pleasure which I enjoy very much. I am just a sixteen-year-old girl and a sophomore in high school. I have never had a beau so far but then that never worries me. I have light brown hair and blue eyes and my girl friends all tell me I am pretty. I have attended a good many party and public dances and I have noticed that if a boy brings a girl to a dance he only dances with her and no one else. I have never danced with a young man so far. I have only danced with girls. They tell me I am a good dancer. I read Decent's letter and I think there is a good deal of truth in it. I like bobbed hair though and know many nice girls wear it that way. And as for short skirts I love them. Well as I said I am not worrying over not having any beau because I guess there is one somewhere in this big U. S. A. for me. So girls no matter how old or how young you may be don't give up hope because there is a Jack for every Jill. And to the boy readers of your Mail I want to say a word or two. Boys, it's fifty-fifty. Continue looking for her and in the meantime keep yourself as good and clean as you would have her come to you. MARGARET.

Questions Answered Briefly.

Mrs. W.: There is such a book as Milford. If you want more details please send a self-addressed envelope.

Brown Eyes: I simply must refuse to advise you regarding bobbing your hair. I wouldn't care to have the responsibility of possible regrets on my shoulders, you see. Suits and capes seem to be equally popular this spring.

Thelma: It is not easy to find stenography to do home in the evenings. I can only suggest that you keep eyes and ears open for such an opportunity while you are in the work-a-day world. You could no doubt pick up some extra money caring for children evenings and Saturday afternoon if you cared to do so. I know of a number of stenographers who work for their board and room, which helps out greatly.

Inquirer: I will be glad to repeat the formula for fig and senna paste which promotes digestion, put torpid organs to work and clears the complexion. One-half pound each of fine raisins and figs, one ounce of senna leaves; chop fine and put in a stewpan with one-half pound sugar and one-half pint boiling water; let simmer slowly for twenty minutes, then pour out on oiled paper in a long baking tin to cool. Take a piece about an inch square at bedtime and afterward regulate that amount by effect.

George: The rhetorical figures of speech are variously classified. Those most commonly given are the simile, metaphor, personification, allegory, synechdoche, metonomy, exclamation hyperbole vision, antithesis, climax, interrogation and irony. The first four are bounded on resemblance, the second six on contiguity and the third five on contrast.

Housewife: To exterminate roaches and water bugs, spread (not merely sprinkle) powdered borax over shelves and baseboards and keep anything and everything in the way of eatables out of their reach. Drench any possible lurking place with boiling water every day as long as there is either roach or bug to bear witness of their survival.

Serious Situation at Oldtown, Arkansas, Levees Breaking

HELENA, Ark., March 31.—The situation at Oldtown, Ark., seventeen miles south of here, where the first line levees along the Mississippi are crumbling under the attack of the strong flood waters, was described as becoming increasingly critical today. Two additional feet of levee was reported by government engineers to have caved in early today and the strong current from the Mississippi side was said to be eating its way under the levee on the Arkansas side.

Lad, 11, Admits Forging Checks Aggregating $100

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31.—Herbert Clayton, 11, under arrest here, has confessed twenty-two successful forgeries, police detectives say.

By representing himself as a caddy at times, and at other times as a newsboy, he found it an easy matter to induce merchants to cash checks ranging from $2.50 to $10 each. His twenty-two checks aggregated about $100, according to the police.

The youngster told detectives that he knew a grown man who once made a living as a forger. He thought he could do likewise.

KNIFE AND FORK IS REORGANIZED

Club Becomes International Society and Increases Directors.

Amended articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state Thursday afternoon, providing for an expansion of the board of directors of the Knife and Fork international. The Knife and Fork club, founded locally, has lately been taken up in a number of other cities, including St. Joseph, Wichita, Sioux City and Denver, making a reorganization necessary.

At a meeting held Thursday evening a new set of officers were elected as follows: E. T. Scott, president; E. F. Snavely, first vice president; Charles W. Taylor, second vice president; W. B. Ryons, treasurer, and A. J. Dunlap, secretary. New board members are George Mason, E. M. Avery, R. W. DeVoe and Rev. E. N. Tompkins. The old officers were R. W. DeVoe, president; E. T. Scott and E. F. Snavely, vice presidents; E. N. Tompkins, secretary and Lee Ager, treasurer. Walter L. Anderson is president of the local club.

The international is a Nebraska corporation whose primary objects are to provide entertainment and instruction for its members and take up certain lines of civic and educational improvement.

Federal Judge Places Gibbons on Probation

Earl Gibbons appeared before United States Judge T. C. Munger in federal court, shortly after noon Friday, to receive sentence on a second count of an information, on the first count of which he was fined $500 and costs, on February 25, 1922, by Judge Munger. Because Gibbons had laid out the fine in the Lancaster county jail, and because he promised the court that he would never again violate any of the prohibition laws, and asked for a chance, Judge Munger Friday noon placed Gibbons on probation with the provision that if ever any complaints are made against Gibbons again, the judge will impose sentence on the second count, which charges Gibbons with illegal transportaton of liquor on November 25, 1921. The first count charged Gibbons with illegal possession. Gibbons was arrested November 25 by Prohibition Agent Tom Carroll near the Ashland Platte river bridge, when he was coming from Omaha, in a Paige roadster in which, according to the officers, there were nine gallons of liquor.

Warns Against Too Much Optimism Over Agreement

LONDON, March 31. — Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill in a speech in the house of commons this afternoon warned the nation not to be too optimistic over the result of the Irish peace agreement signed here last night by representatives of north and south Ireland and the British government.

British officials while hopeful that the agreement would restore Irish unity were not over optimistic. After attaching his signature to the document, Michael Collins of the British provisional government, said that it would surely restore Irish tranquility if it were carried out in the same spirit in which it was signed.

Work Puts One Over on Gotham's Postoffice Force

Dr. Work, was said to have devoted considerable attention to sanitary conditions and drastic changes were indicated.

Taboo Socialists on State Ticket

DES MOINES, Ia., March 31.—Socialist candidates will not be allowed to place their names on the primary election ballot for any state office, it was announced here today by W. C. Banker Ends Life in Lake Michigan; Investigation On CHICAGO, March 31.—W. T. Fenton, vice-president and general manager of the National Bank of the Republic, committed suicide today by leaping into Lake Michigan.

Fenton hired a taxicab and drove to the lake front. After paying his fare he walked to the water's edge and the taxi driver saw him leap into the lake. The police were notified and succeeded in recovering the body from the water, but efforts at resuscitation were futile.

The body was identified by Fenton's son.

An investigation is being made in an effort to learn the motive.

Government to Look on But Will Keep Its Hands Off

So Far as Administration Is Concerned There Will Be No Last Minute Conference and No Eleventh Hour Attempt to Stop Miners' Walkout.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 31.—Tonight's nationwide strike of coal miners will be 100 per cent effective. This was the declaration of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers.

"There is nothing to it," the miners' chief said. "The strike machinery is perfect."

This assertion was made following inquiry as to what preparations had been made to insure the effectiveness of the walkout by subordinate units.

The strike will begin at one minute past midnight.

Approximately 525,000 union miners will lay down their tools.

Two hundred thousand non-union miners may join them.

Twenty states are affected.

The country has reserve coal enough to last three months.

The government will keep hands off until the public begins to suffer.

(International News Serv.ce.)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—While battle lines are being drawn taut today for the greatest labor tieup in the country's history, official Washington went quietly about its business watching closely, but keeping hands off.

So far as the administration is concerned, officials said, there will be no hurried last minute conferences, no ultimatum and no frantic eleventh hour attempts to prevent the strike going into effect at midnight, such as have featured similar situations in other years.

Having failed utterly to persuade the coal owners to meet the miners for the adjustment of a new contract, the government, to all appearances is willing that the issue shall go to a showdown between the half million unionized miners and the operators.

Not until the public begins to suffer, either through lack of coal or from profiteering dealers, will the government take action unless requested to do so by the parties to the controversy, it was stated officially. The big strike will be ushered in at one minute past midnight with two warnings from the government—one to the miners that there shall be no violence; the other to the operators that there shall be no profiteering.

"If the price of coal in any locality is boosted, that fact should immediately be reported to Washington" said Secretary of Labor Davis. "There is no justification for any advance in the price of coal and the public should not pay it."

Like Rock of Gibralter.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The coal operators have broken their contract with the miners and have deliberately forced the men to quit work, "in other words, a lock out," it was asserted today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in along statement reviewing the history of the present controversy.

The strike beginning at midnight will usher in the greatest industrial contest that was ever fought in America, it was predicted today by labor leaders. The mine owners, they said, by refusing to confer with the workers, have plainly warned that they are out to break the enormous power wielded by the United Mine workers in the organized labor world.

Against this menace will be thrown the entire strength of the whole organized labor movement.

"Organized labor in America stands behind the miners in this controversy like the Rock of Gibraltar," said Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. "It is the test, and we will meet it."

Both sides are in excellent condition to stand a long fight.

The operators have piled up the greatest reserve stocks of coal in years to carry the public through what is expected to be a long grind. There is sufficient coal on hand to last the country for nearly three months if not another lump is produced in that time. Railroads and public utilities, first to feel the pinch of a coal strike, are exceptionally well prepared.

Tieup Will Be Complete.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 31.—In districts No. 1 and No. 2, comprising the anthracite coal region, 155,000 mine workers will walk out of their jobs at the stroke of twelve tonight and join with 450,000 bituminous workers in an attempt at a national tieup of the coal industry.

In the hard coal fields the strike, or suspension, as it is officially called, will be 100 per cent effective. That status will prevail in an effort to negotiate a new wage scale.

With the walkout will be simultaneously inaugurated a plan for the dismantling of 260 collieries in the anthracite belt. The mines will be cleared as speedily as possible.

All miners have received orders to remove their tools and the only sign of life in the underground caverns will be operations of pumps to keep the mines clear of water.

Order is expected to mark the suspension.

State troops have been placed at points of vantage throughout the coal fields.

The sheriffs in each county have prepared for any emergency. A large number of deputy sheriffs have been sworn in. The announcement of some of the sheriffs that they have procured machine guns and will use them in the event of trouble has not provoked the best of good feeling.

Included in those who will work are pumpmen, engineers, firemen, stable men and a few others. Union officials have a list of these men and will carefully check them up.

Anthracite operators declare that there will not be the slightest attempt to mine coal or operate their collieries.

Strike Starts Early.

POTTSPILLE, Pa., March 31.—Suspension of operations in the lower anthracite regions came early today when the night shift of miners left the collieries with all their tools. The miners expect a formal strike to be soon declared because they cannot draw any relief funds from the general treasury or the local union while a mere suspension is in force.

Railroads have given right of way to coal trains. An immense amount of coal is being rushed to Buffalo, Rochester and New York and other Empire state points as well as to New England.

Russians Return to Native Country From United tSates

(Associated Press.)

SEBEZH, Russia, March 31. — One hundred and forty-nine Russians from America, forty-three, accompanied by their wives, and children, first contingent of more than two thousand from the United States and Canada, who plan to return to their native country, had their first view yesterday of their new promised land under sovietism, which they left during czardom.

They brought 400 tons of American agricultural implements. They will be given land and it is expected they will organize a soviet wherever the Moscow government decided to send them. They landed at Libau and passed through Latvia.

Miss Stone Again on Witness Stand

NEW YORK, March 31.—Halting her testimony frequently to weep, Miss Olivia M. P. Stone admitted today at her trial for the murder of Ellis Guy Kinkead, former corporation counsel of Cincinnati, authorship of a threatening letter to Kinkead which she denied yesterday.

Apparently recovered from her collapse which stopped the trial yesterday, Miss Stone took the stand at the opening of this morning's session and faced Assistant District Attorney Warbasse for further cross-examination.

Defense Challenges Entire Jury Panel

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—Trial of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, will be resumed this afternoon, having been adjourned yesterday at request of defense attorneys who said they would present affidavits setting forth grounds for challenging the entire jury panel. A verbal challenge on the allegation that prospective jurors had been tampered with, was denied yesterday by Judge Sidney N. Reeve.

No Automobiles to Escape Assessors

(Special to The Star.)

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., March 31.—The assessors of Otoe county met in the office of County Clerk Stevenson and received "instructions." A list of every car owner with make, registration data, etc., was furnished the assessors. There will be no lost cars this year in tax payments. Last year there were over 500 cars unassessed, according to the number of lisences issued.

MISSOURI IS FALLING.

(Special to The Star.)

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., March 31.—The Missouri river, which has been on a rampage for the past week or so, is reported to be failing, although the water was not high enough to cause any flood damage. Driftwood ceased to float down stream yesterday.

Harding to Issue Proclamation for Arbor Day, April 22

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Attention of the country will be called to the fiftieth anniversary of Arbor day, April 22, in a proclamation which President Harding has promised to issue, a delegation of Nebraska congressmen headed by Representative Jefferis, said today after a conference with the president.

The proclamation, they said, will direct attention to the founding of this customs fifty years ago in Nebraska by J. Sterling Morton, who served as United States senator and later as secretary of agriculture. The delegation, in addition to Representative Jefferis included Representatives McLaughlin, Kinkaid and Evans.

I. W. W. Organizer Is Locked Up for an Investigation

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., March 31.—Frank Ellis, who admits that he is an authorized organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, was arrested while on his way to the Missouri Pacific passenger station by Policeman Joe Pearsall and is now being held in the county jail for investigation.

When his suit case was searched at the station it was found to contain I. W. W. literature and the prisoner admitted that he was an organizer for this district.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., March 31.—The fifth annual banquet of the local Chamber of Commerce was held at the high school last night. A campaign of drive for funds for the continuance of the organization met with great success and funds were guaranteed for the continuation of the chamber for at least three years.

Massive Rostrum Finds a Home

The massive rotrum on which the judge's bench in the old federal court room, now a part of the city hall, stood for more than thirty years, has at last found a home. It has been donated by C. W. Bryan, head of the street department, to the Unity Society of Practical Christianity, which meets in the Funke building.

After the old federal building was sold to the city and became the city hall, the old court room was used for a while as a council chamber, the mayor presiding at the "judge's bench." With the coming of the commission form of government, the council retired to another room where less formal sessions were held. For several years the old court room was used only as a storage room, for a polling place on elections days and for occasional meetings.

Recently, a part of the room was taken over by the Humane society for its offices, and last week another part was partitioned off for offices for the Boy Scouts. That necessitated the moving of the judge's bench and the rostrum on which it stood.

The rostrum is about twelve by fifteen feet, and eighteen inches high, and of massive construction. It weighs probably a ton or more. Commissioner George Dayton said it would easily support a locomotive.

Not knowing what else to do with it, Mr. Dayton, who has charge of the city hall, gave it to the street department. Mr. Bryan gave it to Mr. Overton, the street boss. Mr. Overton offered it to the H street railroad builders, but no bridges were needed.

Then Miss Maud Tyler, the mayor's secretary, thought of a church organization that needed a rostrum and Mr. Bryan made the presentation Friday morning.

Is your skin pale and sallow?

—How you can rouse it

ONCE a week before retiring, fill your basin with almost boiling water. Bend over the basin, covering your head with a heavy bath towel, so that no steam can escape. Steam your face for 30 seconds.

Now lather a hot cloth with Woodbury's Facial Soap and with this wash your face thoroughly, rubbing the lather well into the skin. Rinse with warm water, then with cold, and finish by rubbing your face for 30 seconds with a piece of ice.

The first time you use this treatment, you will notice a marked improvement in your complexion. The Andrew Jergens Company.

Contract Work More Expensive to the Carrier

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Contracts with outside locomotive construction companies for 1920 for the repair of engines cost the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads each approximately $3,000,000 more than the same work would have cost in their own shops, the interstate commerce commission found today after an investigation.

ACTION AGAINST NEW CHURCH CULT

Former Member Says 'Home' Not Proper Place for Rearing Children.

(Associated Press.)

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 31.—Charges that a "home" maintained near Alma, in the Santa Cruse mountains by an organization which calls itself the "perfect Christian divine way," is not a proper place for children will be the occasion for what is expected to be a searching inquiry into the practices of the organization before the Santa Clara juvenile court April 4.

CROWDS AT TRIAL OF RILEY SMITH

Case of Man Charged With Ithaca Bank Robbery Attracting Attention.

Defense Seeks to Prove Defendant Was at Lambert Farm During Holdup.

WAHOO, Neb., March 31.—Two witnesses for the defense occupied the entire morning Thursday in the trial of Riley Smith of Omaha, identified by Cashier James M. Hall and Bookkeeper Selma Hageman as one of two bandits who robbed the Ithaca State bank of $1,733.35 at 1:30 p. m. December 16.

This is the first trial for bank robbery or even holdup in Saunders county and the court house was filled to overflowing. Despite the muddy roads and the threatening weather, automobiles were parked at the court house at 7:30 Thursday morning. The trial was scheduled to start at 9. At noon the spectators scarcely took time for lunch before returning in order to get seats.

Ray Lampert and his brother-in-law, Roy Hudkins, testified this morning that Riley Smith and a party of Omaha friends arrived at the Lampert farm, three miles from Ithaca, for a dinner party at 1:15 p. m. the day of the robbery, fifteen minutes before the crime was committed.

Defense witnesses are being used in an effort to establish an alibi for Smith. Lampert and Hudkins testified Smith and his friends remained at the farm that day until evening.

Attorney Eugene O'Sullivan of Omaha and J. H. Barry of Wahoo, counsel for the defense, consumed the remainder of the day examining defense witnesses. County Attorney Bryant and Judge B. F. Good of Lincoln, special representative of the attorney general at the trial, are conducting the prosecution.

An attempt will be made to complete taking of testimony Friday. The defense still has several witnesses and the state probably will use some time in rebuttal.

Aurora Rotarians Vote in Favor of New District Plan

(Special to The Star.)

AURORA, Neb., March 31.—At its regular meeting Wednesday evening the Aurora Rotary club unanimously adopted resolutions endorsing the redistricting of the Sixteenth district of International Rotary. The district at the present time consists of the states of South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska. The proposed change is to join South Dakota with southern Minnesota, and one third of western Iowa with Nebraska, leaving the two thirds of eastern Iowa as one district.

The unusual growth of Rotary in the Sixteenth district makes it impossible for the district governor to keep in close touch with the work as the territory is too large, and it also prevents many of the members from attending the district conferences and getting the benefit of the inspirational programs. The redistricting committee will act on the proposed changes at a meeting to be held at Portland, Oregon on April 7.

Avoid Diphtheria

A sore throat is a good breeding place for Diphtheria germs. Protect your children by never neglecting a Sore Throat. You can wisely depend upon TONSILINE. Give Tonsiline upon the first appearance of Sore Throat—don't give Diphtheria a chance in that throat in its weakened condition. When TONSILINE is swallowed it comes directly in contact with the diseased surface and induces a healthy condition of the membranes—then the system can better defend the throat if attacked by Diphtheria germs. Keep TONSILINE in the house always. 35c., 60c. and $1.00.

DEFENSE BEGINS ITS TESTIMONY IN SNOOK CASE

State Rests With Evidence of Alleged Threat Made Made by Wife.

Mrs. Swindell Tells of Violent Quarrel Which Preceded Stabbing.

George E. Riley, formerly of Lincoln, now living in Kansas City, testified Thursday afternoon in the trial of Mrs. Willette Snook that he had purchased a revolver of Clyde Snook two or three weeks before Snook is alleged to have been murdered by his wife, and that Mrs. Snook later came to him and wanted the revolver returned, that its was hers and she "needed it." Mrs. Snook told Riley her husband had not paid her the money which he received for the revolver, Riley said.

"If I find out that you have been drinking and going out with other women I'll cut your throat," J. W. McConaugh testified he heard Mrs. Snook tell her husband the Saturday night previous to the alleged crime.

McConaugh said he was employed by the Ensign Omnibus and Transfer company, where Snook was also employed as night office man, and that he had overheard the conversation between Mr. and Mrs. Snook. Mr. Snook denied his wife's allegations, the witness said. In the ten years that he had known Snook, McConaugh said he had never seen Snook drunk or with another woman.

With the testimony of Riley and McConaugh the state finished its case against Mrs. Snook Thursday afternoon.

Miss Wilma Cordell was the first witness called to the stand by the defense. She had previously been called as a state's witness. Miss Cordell said she had stayed at the Snooks' home from Monday to Friday of the week preceding Snook's death. She said Snook slept until noon and he and his wife generally started quarreling when he arose. During the time that Miss Cordell was staying at the Snooks home she said she heard Snook call Mrs. Snook "everything." On one occasion he knocked Mrs. Snook over on the bed and on another occasion told his wife he had been out to see another woman the night before, Miss Cordell said. They had quarrels every day Miss Cordell was in their home, it was said. Once she said she heard Mrs. Snook ask her husband for money with which to buy Jackie a new suit to which he replied that Mrs. Snook was always making money and ought to be able to get her small son a suit. The day of the tragedy Miss Cordell said Mrs. Snook came to her home between 11 and 11:30 a. m. and they in company with a man went to look for Snook, because he had not arrived home from his work.

Miss Cordell mentioned a "red-headed woman" as the woman in the case, but did not state her name.

Claims She Heard Threat.

Mrs. Ellen Swindell was also called to testify by the defense, after having been previously called by the state. Mrs. Swindell said she had seen Mrs. Snook "with a black eye" last December, and Mrs. Snook said her husband had made it and asked Mrs. Swindell not to tell any one.

"If you don't tell me who that woman was I'll cut your heart out," Mrs. Swindell said she heard Mrs. Snook tell her husband just a few minutes before Snook met his death. Mrs. Swindell said she had come out of the Snooks' single room, which was their home, on the third floor of the City block, 145 South Eleventh street, and overheard a quarrel between Mr. and Mrs. Snook as she stood in the hall. Shortly before this Mrs. Swindell said Mrs. Snook had told her Snook was drunk and had been out with a woman.

About ten or fifteen minutes following the quarrel, which was between 11 and 11:30 a. m., Monday, February 20, Mrs. Swindell said she heard Mrs. Snook scream. The Swindells lived in an apartment next to the Snooks.

"Oh, Ellen, I believe I have killed Clyde," Mrs. Swindell said she heard Mrs. Snook say. Mrs. Snook asked her to call a doctor, and put her arm under her husband's head and pleaded with him to speak to her, Mrs. Swindell testified. Snook was then lying in the hall just outside the door of his room. He died almost instantly. Mrs. Snook left, supposedly to get a doctor, and was found about two hours later alone in the home of Mrs. Anabel Seaschultz.

CARDINALS "DOPED" TO BEAT OUT GIANTS

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

EDITED BY 'CY' SHERMAN

FAVORS CARDS TO CAPTURE PENNANT

Davis Walsh Likes Prospects of Branch Rickey's Team in National Race.

Giants Not Due to Repeat, He Predicts, as Result of Uncertain Pitching.

WALSH TAKES "PICKS" IN NATIONAL LEAGUE
1—St. Louis.
2—New York.
3—Pittsburgh.
4—Boston.
5—Brooklyn.
6—Cincinnati.
7—Chicago.
8—Philadelphia.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.
(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, March 31.—How would you like to be a judge at the finish of a 100-yard dash with Charley Paddock, Morris Kirksey, Loren Murchison and Edwards, the British negro, coming out on their marks for the final heat?

The chances would be very good that you might hoot one there, unless you had the eye of a hoolish. Given an even break at the gun this quartet would figure to come down to the tape so closely bunched that one might readily imagine them as running in quadruple harness.

Four Teams in the Running.

And by the same token, the impending National league race figures to be a four-team race from first to last, with the possibility imminent that not more than five games will separate the first and fourth runners at the wire. We have picked the St. Louis Cardinals to head off the Giants, Braves and Pirates for reasons that seem to us conclusive and sufficient. Yet the Cards can finish fourth and still avoid the charge of having engaged in that pastime elegantly known as doing a flop.

This should be the Cards' best year. They have the most impressive hitting ensemble in the major leagues and a more consistent punch all down the line than the Giants, and the McGraw entry has yet to prove that it will produce better pitching this season.

Giants Strong in Infield.

The Giants have fallen heir to the best infield in baseball today in obtaining Heinie Groh from the Reds; yet they were forced to give up George Burns to pull the deal through, and Burns is the best lead-off man in the league, in addition to one of its best outfielders and base runners.

However, you will have to prove the Giants' ability to repeat by their pitchers, and that will be no easy cinch, as the fellow said. Toney is nearing the end of his tether and does not figure to be as effective as of yore, while Nehf, the most consistent winner of the outfit, must be nursed carefully. He cannot be overworked because his snap delivery exacts no little physical toll from his arm.

Cards' Pitchers Look Good.

This would seem to put the matter squarely up to some of the young pitchers and that leaves the Cards just as good as the next. Indeed, they should get a lot of good pitching from a staff that includes Doak, Haines, Sherdel, Perritt, Bailey, Pfeffer and Goodwin. At least three of those named will come through—with the emphasis on Doak and Pfeffer. Sallvary Willie is not a good spring pitcher, but he should be a big winner when the going starts to get rough, while Pfeffer, for the first time in several years, seems to have settled down to the business at hand.

It is upon Pfeffer that we hang the proof of our prediction. He is a great right-hander when he wants to be—and he appears to be in the mood now. Write this one down on your frayed cuff: Watch Jeff Pfeffer this year.

Catching Lacks the Punch.

The Cards are weak as water and soup behind the plate, but have eight outfielders and may be able to swing one or more of these into a trade for a catcher.

The Pirates are selected for third place. One can do no less by an outfit that can summon such pitchers as Cooper, Adams, Hamilton, Carlson, Glazner, Morrison, Yellowhorse and Zinn.

The punch is not there, however; at least, it does not seem to be, although you never can tell what a young player will do and the Pirates are experimenting with several of them.

Braves Rather Good Club

The Braves, figuring to get fine pitching from McQuillan, Oeschger, Watson and possibly Fillingim, with the aging Marquard bobbingup with a well pitched game occasionally, will be up with the front runners all the way, particularly since the pitching will be supported by a fine hitting outfield and first-class catching. The Braves' infield defense may be a big spotty, however, and for this reason they are outranked by the other favorites.

Paddock Repeats in Record Sprint

HONOLULU, T. H., March 31. Charles Paddock of Los Angeles, worlds champion sprinter, tied his own record for 220 yards here yesterday. Paddock set the 220 mark, 20 4-5 seconds, last year.

Killefer Sour on His Pitchers.

If the weather permits, which is doubtful, the Cubs and the Seals will play here today.

Manager Moran, who took the regulars to Springfield for two games, gave Wingo permission to confer with Roush, but no authority to make a definite deal with him, he said.

Indians Have Punk Trip.

CLEVELAND, O., March 31.—The Cleveland Indians broke camp at Dallas today and started north, after one of the most unsatisfactory training trips ever taken by a major league team. The team will be split in two sections, the regulars going to Oklahoma City and the second team to Wichita, where they are scheduled to play tomorrow and Sunday.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 31.

Selected or special issues made further substantial gains in today's very active stock market, but high grade rails and industrial shares only moderately. Sales approximated 1,100,000 shares.

The short interest in the stock market was again driven to cover at the opening of today's session. Various specialties such as Famous Players, American Ice, Corn Products and American Sugar, made 1 point gains with Chandler Motors and New York Central, Studebaker, yesterday's strongest and most active issue, had a wide opening, but gradually reacted to a fraction under the final of the previous day. American Car, Sumatra Tobacco, United Fruit and Homestake Mining also strengthened. Coppers were unresponsive to the coming resumption of operations by the Porphry companies.

Prices of stocks continued to march steadily upward with the bulls having an abundance of ammunition to intimidate the short faction. Talk of a resumption of dividend payments by some of the low priced railroads, placing of large orders for railroad equipments and the instestent demand for new security issues all contributed to a more cheerful sentiment. Pool operations were expanded, many new issues being taken up and most of the usual market leaders touched new high prices for the current movement.

Pressure against Mexican and Pan-American Petroleum and Davison chemical caused temporary unsettlement of prices in the first hour. The market rallied later on more extensive buying of Studebaker, Chandler, Baldwin and Bethlehem, these scoring new high records for the year. Pressed Steel Car, Lima Locomotive, New York Airbrake, Westinghouse and Mullin's Body were strong, the latter rising 5⅝ points. Preferred shares of the St. Paul, Ann Arbor, St. Louis & San Francisco, Pere Marquette, Chicago & Alton, Toledo, St. Louis & Western and Rutland roads were 1 to 2 points higher. Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

Motors and equipments, especially Studebaker, Chandler, Pressed Steel Car and New York Airbrake, extended previous gains, but elsewhere prices eased on profit taking and the 5½ per cent money rate. The closing was irregular.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 31.

WHEAT—Plentiful moisture in the domestic winter wheat belt together with weakness in the Liverpool market led to lower prices today during the early dealings here in wheat. The condition of winter wheat was figured at 78.7 per cent by a leading expert as against 76.0 in December. He also estimated the probable yield as against 580,000,000 bushels, compared with a December estimate of 627,000,000 bushels. Opening quotations, which ranged from ⅛ to 1c lower, with May $1.34½@1.35 and July $1.18½@1.18¾, were followed by slight further declines in some cases.

Rallies ensued, but with milling and export demand rather slow, the market took a decided downward slide in the last half hour. The close was unsettled, 1 to 2⅛c net lower with May $1.32½@1.32⅝ and July $1.17½@1.17⅝.

CORN—Corn sagged in value with wheat. After opening unchanged to a shade off, July 62¼c, the market receded a little all around.

Most of the trade in corn was of a local character. The close was weak, 1 to 1⅜c net lower, July 61⅛c.

OATS—Oats, which were relatively firm, owing to wet weather, started ⅛ to ¼c higher, July 39⅞c, and gained a trifle more before beginning to react.

PROVISIONS—Downturns in the price of hogs brought about a decline in the provision market.

Action Reveals Retired Banker Spanks His Wife

NEW YORK, March 31.—The declaration that he had felt impelled to give his wife, whom he characterized as a social jazzer a spanking because of her admiration for the Napoleonic ideals of a certain Italian count, was made by Frank D. Montfort, a retired banker, in papers filed in the supreme court today in answer to a separation suit brought by his wife, Adele.

The couple have been married for fourteen years.

The first break in the connubial bliss occurred last year when, on a trip to Italy, Montfort alleges, his life paid too many attentions to a Count Ponzo and declared she acknowledged a mental affection for the count.

The field is the strongest and largest ever to compete here and is likely to outrank any in American golf this year, save at the national open championship at Skokie, Chicago.

Hutchison, Barns, Hagen and Fred McLeod are the favorites for the title, which Hutchison won last year with a medal score of 291 for 72 holes.

workers. The basic rates for the soft coal workers range from $1.08 to $1.11 a ton for pick mining, and the day men receive $7.50 a day. Exact tonnage rates in the anthracite fields are said by the union to be lower than in the soft coal district and the anthracite day men receive from $4.20 to $5.60 a day.

British Mi[illegible]edge Support

(International News Service.)

LONDON, March 31.—The British miners' union is going to give its support to the American miners in their nation-wide strike which begins at midnight tonight. The British coal miners, however, will not take any action to stop the shipment of coal to the United States unless the United Mine Workers of America request it.

This information comes from Vernon Hartshorn, M. P., head of the South Wales miners' federation and a member of the executive committee of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain.

While the British miners will give their sympathetic support to their fellow workers in the United States no steps are planned at this time to extend active aid. British union officials declared, however, that such assistance would be given if requested.

"The situation in the American mine fields is being watched here with the closest and most sympathetic interest,' said Hartshorn. "The American coal miners are fighting a battle, which we have fought many times and are apparently opposed by similar methods to those which we successfully overcame."

"It would be impertinent for us Britishers to offer advice, but the Americans have our very best wishes."

Hard Coal Men Quitting.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Presidents of the three anthracite district unions left today to administer the suspension of work in the mines in Shamokin regions of Pennsylvania in conjunction with the nation-wide coal strike.

Although the suspension order will not become officially effective until midnight tonight, reports from district headquarters indicate cessation of production already was under way. Actual suspension probably will be complete at sundown, it was said, when plans to protect the property will be complete.

3,000,000 Tons In Reserve.

DULUTH, Minn., March 31.—There are approximately 3,250,000 tons of coal now piled up on the docks at Duluth and Superior, sufficient to supply the northwest's fuel needs for from 100 to 110 days in the event of a coal miners' strike, according to figures given out today by R. H. Slater, superintendent of the Western Railway Weighing and Inspection bureau.

AVERT BREAK IN OLD TOWN LEVEE

Hasty Repairs Made and Caving Checked for Present, Engineer Says.

HELENA, Ark., March 31.—Hasty repairs made to the caving Mississippi river levee at Old Town, Ark., a few miles soth of this city, have averted the danger of a break at that point, according to City Engineer Parmelee of Helena today.

A hundred men of the government engineering forces were put to work building a secondary levee behind the weakened point as soon as the danger became apparent. Low places along the levee were also built up with sandbags.

Night and day watch is beng kept on the big dyke.

According to Mr. Parmelee, the levee along the entire Arkansas bank of the Mississippi river, is able to withstand another eight or ten feet of water.

"Barring the unforeseeable, there will be no break in the levee," he sad this afternoon.

The river at Old Town has been eating into the levee for two days. The river side of the embankment has been washed away and the crown of the superstructure is threatened. If this falls the penned up waters will rush through the gaps. The rivrr is still rising at Helena. Heavy rans fell last night in this section and the crest of the flood probably will be higher than any forecast has placed it.

Warnings have been sent out to inhabitants of the Arkansas lowlands to move to higher ground.

R. I. Meeker, deputy state engineer, will present data on water supply, irrigable areas, potential water needs, trans-mountain diversion and domestic requirements.

State Engineer E. J. McCune will outline future development plans of the state and numerous other witnesses will tell the commission what the needs of Colorado are in respect to water for crop production.

Let Us Safeguard Your Securities

Recently the newspapers published an account of an old man who kept something over $1,000 in an old sock, and thieves broke through and stole his treasure. We had ready for publication a little talk on the foolishness of keeping large sums of money in and about the house, using this incident as a text, when later reports showed that the old man was worth upwards of two hundred thousand dollars and was in the habit of keeping a good deal of cash on hand.

So we side-tracked our little talk. There are no heart-throbs for the miser who is robbed. But wholly aside from this incident, we would again urge the desirability of your having a Safe Deposit Box in which to keep your valuable papers and investment securities. It is purely a business matter—the cheapest insurance you can get.

Our big twin Safe Deposit Vaults combine safety and convenience. They are on the first floor, level with the street entrance. There are no steps to stumble down and no stairs to climb. The walls, roof and floor are constructed of steel plates, cement and vitrified brick in such a way as to discourage the most ambitious burglar. The Boxes or "Safes" inside the vaults are constructed in "nests" of such size and weight as to make a hold-up and hurried carrying away of them practically impossible.

The smallest Boxes are big enough to hold a small fortune; but we rent them at $2.00 per year. Other larger Boxes cost you $2.50, $3.00, $3.50 and upwards according to size and convenience. This is the only rental we know of that was not increased during or after the World War.

Come in and take a look at our vaults and let us explain our system of safeguarding whatever you choose to keep in your Box—all about the master key which we keep and your key which you keep; the access slip you sign every time you visit your Box; and so on. You incur no obligation to rent a Box by giving us a call.

SUTTON'S CAGE CHAMPS TROUNCE SOUTH DAKOTA YOUTHS

SUTTON TOSSERS DEFEAT YANKTON

Champions of Nebraska High Schools Win First Game of Basket Series.

(Special to The Star.)

YANKTON, S. D., March 31.—Sutton high school's basketball team, champions of Nebraska, defeated the Yankton high school quintet, which recently won the championship of South Dakota, here Thursday night in the first game of a three-game series by the score of 24 to 17. It was the fastest exhibition of basketball ever seen here, both teams showing fine defensive strength.

The Dakota champions played well in the first half and also in the last five minutes of the contest, but appeared off form at the opening of the second period. Jencks, Yankton forward, who usually displays the greatest degree of accuracy in caging free throws, proved a keen disappointment to his teammates and the followers of the team by being successful in only two out of nine attempts.

Schwarz Individual Star.

Schwarz, captain and center of the visiting quintet, was the individual star of the game. He specialized on long shots. He made a long shot just before the close of the first half, tying the score at 19 to 19. He shot four beautiful baskets from the middle of the floor in the second half. G. Wieland also played well for Sutton.

McMurphy and Dunn played the best games for Yankton.

BELGIAN FIGHTER INVADES AMERICA

Claims Welter Glove Title of Europe and Demands Crack at Britton.

(Special to The Star.)

NEW YORK, March 31.—Pete Hobin, the European welterweight boxing champion, is now in New York, where he has placed his affairs into the hands of Leo P. Flynn, the well known New York manager, with instructions to that manager to get him a match with Jack Britton for the world's title. Hobin figures he is entitled to a match with the champion because of the fact that he holds a twenty-round decision over Ted "Kid" Lewis. In the meantime, however, Hobin is perfectly willing to meet any of the other American welterweights who figure that he has no business trying to get on with Britton.

The Belgium lad has been fighting for four years, during which time he has taken part in ninety-two fights, winning eighty-seven of them and scoring forty-nine knockouts among them the cream of Europe's best fighters.

Declared Champ of Europe.

Hobin was awarded the championship of Europe in the welterweight class by the international federation of boxing in Europe. He automatically became the champion when the former champion of Europe Albert Badoud, retired from active ring service. The federation officially recognized him as the champion of all Europe on April 23, 1921.

Some of the best known of the European boxers that he has scored knockouts over are as follows:

Maan of Belgium in two rounds; Greenstock of England in four rounds; Degand of France in five rounds; Pruller of France in two rounds; De Jaegner of Holland in six rounds; Fluyette of France in one round; Maestrini of Switzerland in five rounds; Bisschop of Holland in eight rounds; Francis Charles of France in seven rounds; and then again Francis Charles in two rounds.

AGREE TO REED AS MONDAY REFEREE

Main Eventers on Legion Mat Bill Get Together in Naming Third Man.

Adam Krieger and Gus Kallio, principals in the main event of the American Legion post's wrestling show, dated for next Monday night at the City auditorium, got down to business Thursday night and mutually agreed on the selection of a referee.

The intimation that failure to agree would result in the jangle being put up to State Boxing Commissioner Doyle and selection by the latter of the Monday night "third man" convinced the rasseling gents that it might be wise to quit their wrangle.

Fearing that choice by the state commissioner might result in a nomination not altogether satisfactory, the grapplers notified Chairman Dake of the Legion athletic committee that Harry Reed, boxing and wrestling referee of Lincoln, would suit them quite nicely as the arbiter of the Monday night mat fray.

Reed Willing to Serve.

Reed was notified today by Chairman Dake that he had been chosen for the refereeing job, and gave notice of his acceptance. Reed officiated as "third man" during the recent Krieger-Farley rumpus, in which Krieger was the victor in straight falls.

Adam proclaimed today that he is training just as seriously for his approaching tussle with Kallio as in advance of any bout during the past two seasons. The local grappler is doing a long grind on the road one day and working out on the mat the next, and asserted Friday that he intends to be at top form when he vaults through the ropes to come to grips with the welter champion. Krieger and Kallio have been doing their indoor training at the headquarters of the Lincoln Athletic Club.

Up to Krieger to Win.

"I have two good money-making matches in sight," Krieger said Friday. "One is scheduled at Jamestown, N. D., where the local promoter has asked me to meet an unknown [illegible]-pounder, while the other is in prospect at El Paso, Tex., against Matty Matsuda, Japanese welter. Matsuda has been winning a lot of matches down at El Paso and the promoter there has written me that I am to have a whirl at the Jap. I must beat Kallio Monday night to cash in at Jamestown and El Paso, so just watch my smoke when I get at Kallio next week."

NOTRE DAME TRIES NEW GRID STATUTE

Rockne Pupils Count Seventh Point in Three of Four Scoring Attempts.

(Associated Press.)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 31.—The new football rule abolishing the kick for goal after touchdown and substituting a scrimmage on the five-yard line has been given a try-out during the spring practice at the University of Notre Dame. In a practice game yesterday, the scoring team was successful in adding the extra point in three out of four attempts.

Following the touchdown, the team lined up on the five-yard line and the seventh point was made a drop kick. Then another drop kick was successful. The third attempt also succeeded, but this time a forward pass was used. On the fourth attempt another pass was tried but was knocked down.

Sooner Students Put on Grill by Uni. Authorities

(Associated Press.)

NORMAN, Okla., March 31.—The athletic council at the University of Oklahoma is quizzing members of the university track team in an effort to find out if they knew that Harold Hufbauer, captain of the Sooner track squad in 1921, was an ineligible member of the team which defeated Baylor university at Waco, Tex., in a dual meet last Monday.

Hufbauer was expelled from school by President Stratton D. Brooks and Grover C. Jacobsen, university track coach, was discharged as a result of the affair.

Coach Jacobsen declared last night that he would not resign until he had an opportunity to explain to President Stratton D. Brooks the circumstances of the competition of Harold Hufbauer, an ineligible, in the dual track meet with Baylor university.

Jacobsen said he had not been discharged, as reported, but had been requested by President Brooks to resign in case he was unable to explain satisfactorily the entry of Hufbauer, former track captain, in the Texas meet. Hufbauer appeared in the summary, under the name of "Moore."

"If I am guilty of any wrongdoing," said Jacobsen, "it is the result of carelessness and not intentional."

Two Records in Ten-Pins Smashed at Toledo Fest

(Associated Press.)

TOLEDO, O., March 31.—The twenty-second annual tournament of the American Bowling congress is about all over but paying off the money winners. The last out-of-town five men teams completed their strings last night and will shoot in the minor events today. Then the tournament will be turned over exclusively to Toledoans until the finish Saturday night.

The tournament began February 27 and when the last five-men squad is off the alleys tomorrow night 1,125 five-men teams, 2,411 two-men teams and 4,938 individuals will have competed for prizes aggregating $50,867.

Several new A. B. C. records have been established, chief among them being the 1,899 of Barney Spinelli of New York for his nine games and the 729 of Walter Lundgren of Chicago for three games in the singles.

Chicago Tank Star Smashes Record

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 31.—John Weissmuller, seventeen-year-old aquatic star of the Illinois Athletic club last night set new world's record time for 200 metres and 220 yards in an event at the New York Athletic swimming carnival, negotiating 200 metres in 2 minutes, 13 1-5 seconds, and 220 yards in two minutes, 19 1-5 seconds.

The old record for both distances, 2 minutes 19 4-5 seconds, was made by Ted Cann of the New York Athletic club. Weissmuller in an event at Detroit recently, was credited with having made the 220 in 2 minutes 17 4-5 seconds. This performance has been submitted to athletic authorities. In his record making swim last night he defeated Leo Geibel intercollegiate 220 yard champion, by about twelve yards.

Louis Balbach of the New York Athletic club, formerly of Portland, Ore., won the metropolitan fancy diving championship. He was a member of the last American Olympic team.

BOOBY POSITION TO CORNELIUS MACK

Critic Can See No Chance for Athletics to Escape A. L. Cellar.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, March 31.—Having invaded Eagle Pass, Texas, with studious solicitation, we speak not of the Philadelphia Athletics in terms of certainty. However, the following is offered for what it may be worth, or even less:

The best minds are agreed that the Athletics are the same merry jest they have been for the last seven or eight years. For one thing, Connie Mack was pleased to make a sieve out of the left side of his infield by sending Joe Dugan on his way and getting an outfielder, a pitcher and, presumably, considerable heart balm in return.

Gets Miller for Dugan.

The outfielder, Bing Miller, is all he has to show for the transaction, Jose Acosta having been snatched up by the White Sox. With the White Sox showing unexpected strength against the world's champion Giants, there seems to be slight hope that Philadelphia will come up for air this season.

The strength of the team, if any, is seated in the batteries. Mr. Mack can be certain of fairly respectable pitching from day to day from a staff that includes such as Rommel, Harris, Hasty, Moore and Naylor.

Perkins Flossy Catcher.

Handling them will be Cy Perkins, looked upon with kindly eyes by every respectable judge of major league catching. His assistants, if he needs any, will be Johnny Walker and one John Berger, a semi-pro. He is one of the rookie finds of the jaunt. Another is Frank McGowan, up from the Newark club of the International league. Frank has been hitting the ball with enthusiastic abandon.

George Hughes and Herb Malone, recruit outfielders, have caught Mr. Mack's austere attention from time to time but it won't get them anything for the present beyond a one-way ticket to the sticks. Three young pitchers, however are to stick around, according to all accounts. They are Fred Heimachs, Bryan Yarrison and Frank Loftus.

Infield Layout Shaky.

Now for that porous infield. On first base we discover the venerable Doc Johnston flat-wheeling around with the best of intentions. Joe Hauser was shown a nice cool spot on the bench and there left to his own devices.

Jimmy Dykes at second base is a good infielder, but neither an Eddie Collins nor a Stanley Harris statements to the contrary notwithstanding. On the opposite flank of the infield will be the confusing Messrs. Calloway and Galloway in all probability. Neither is a real major leaguer.

If Mr. Mack were seeking advice, which he isn't, a good tip would be make some use of Heinie Sceier other than that of utility infielder. With Sceier at second, the infield could be made to stand up, possibly.

Barbers to Have Team in League

MODERN CATCHER CZAR OF DIAMOND

Pitcher a Dummy Under Policy Which Puts Receiver in Control of Game.

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

(Copyright, 1922, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Once upon a time one of the most vital of pitching assets was brains.

But not so now.

The way they play the game in this era makes brains within a pitcher not merely useless but more or less of a menace. For if he has brains he may use 'em sometimes in an effort to overrule the orders of the manager or the catcher who, in this era of baseball, seem to think it necessary for them to do all the thinking for the slinger.

And that constituted les majeste.

Just why a catcher hooks onto the idea that he is smarter than every pitcher—and just why a manager nods assent to that idea—is a bit difficult to understand.

If you trek back along the trail of the years you'll find John Clarkson, "Old Hoss" Radbourne, Tim Keefe and Christy Mathewson standing forth not merely as the brightest luminaries of their own years but among the starriest stars of all time. They did most of their own thinking, performed most of their own strategy.

Their catchers were, in the main, receivers—not directors.

When Brains Were Supreme.

They signalled to the catcher what they were going to pitch. They pitted their own brains against those of the batters—used, because they were permitted to use, all the knowledge they had gained through years of wits-matching with the sluggers in their particular time. Their arms lifted them to greatness.

Their brains, as well as their arms, lifted the into greatness. And years after their arms were really gone their brains, developed through the years, carried them along.

But, of late years, managers have decided they know a whole lot more about what a pitcher can throw and what he should throw than the pitcher does himself. And to make the pitcher an absolutely mechanical worker, these managers, after giving the pitcher his skeletonized instructions in the matter of pitchery, then adds:

"The catcher will be back of the plate to pass along the pitch-by-pitch instructions to you."

Catcher Has His Way.

A batter steps up.

The pitcher remembers that this particular swatsmith can't hit a low curve, but can murder a straight fast one. And then, perhaps, the catcher signals for a straight fast one. The pitcher, if he has any will power of his own, may wag his head in the negative. The catcher again will flash the straight fast one sign. If the pitcher disagrees again, the chances are that the catcher will run up to him and say something like this:

"You pitch what I say, see—or you'll be derricked."

The manager, undoubtedly angered by the revolt of the pitcher, wigwags a reprimand then—and deals out a verbal one later.

The pitcher, with spirit somewhat broken, serves up the straight fast one. If the batter fails to connect safely, then the catcher later may say:

"See you big sapp I was right. I knew he couldn't hit one like that."

Then Comes the Alibi.

If the batter slugs the ball a mile, the catcher has some sort of alibi. The pitcher didn't break the ball right, he didn't put a real hop on it. Something was wrong—the pitcher some way was at fault. And into the records goes another hit charged against that particular pitcher who, using his own knowledge, perhaps could have fanned the batsman.

It's only in the last few years—ten at the most—since the system became almost epidemic within baseball whereby the manager and the catcher do all the thinking for practically all of the pitchers. That's because a decade ago, some way, somehow, the idea gained advocates that a manager could run a ball club and run his men better by doing all the thinking for the nine men during every moment of action.

What's the result?

Is it a good system—or a bad one?

Why Hitting Has Increased.

Is it best that a catcher and a manager should do the thinking for a pitcher—that a moundsman should be little more than a manikin? Well, squint at the records for the past ten years. You'll find, among a lot of other things, that hitting since 1912 has increased at a terrific clip.

Before 1912 the bulk of pitchers did their own thinking—directed their own line of battle. The catcher assisted, the catcher was a partner. But the pitcher was the boss. And in those days hits were rarities. And only a few of them ever sailed a million miles out of the ball parks and into the heavens.

But now, with catchers and managers doing the thinking—with catchers and managers nulling the brain power of their pitchers—well, the swatter who fails to swat beyond .300 and the swatter who doesn't bang out a dozen homers, two dozen triples and four dozen doubles each and every year thinks that somebody has enshrouded him with the gipsy's curse.

Make Use of Radio in Checker Match

OMAHA, March 31.—Shenandoah, Ia., met and lost to Blockton, Ia., at checkers played by wireless last night.

The contest was between E. E. Brown's radio station of Blockton, using telegraph, and Harlan Gass' radio station, using radiophone at Shenandoah. Adrian Dale, a high school student, made the moves for Shenandoah, Charles Sawyer assisting in the radiophoning. Harry Cole, a senior at Blockton, played at the other end.

Bowling Champion Rolls Poor Score in Singles Event

TOLEDO, O., March 31.—Thursday's program in the minor events of the American Bowling congress tournament was featured by the failure of another A. B. C. champion to show winning form. Frank Smith of Detroit, winner of the individual title at Buffalo with 702, could collect only 549 in his singles, which does not place him in the money.

Smith got a big 677 start in his five-men event, and collected 615 for his share of the doubles with F. O'Rourke, also of Detroit, making his total for nine games 1,831, which is slightly within the money in the all events division of the tournament.

The highest single score for three games was 671, registered by F. Breechies of Detroit.

Tennis Champ Wins Pair of Games in Indoor Tournament

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—William T. Tilden, world's singles champion, by two victories yesterday advanced to the third round in the middle states indoor tennis championship. All the other favorites won their first round matches handily. Vincent Richards, New York, national junior titleholder, drew a bye in the first round and defeated C. Jones, University of Pennsylvania, in the second round, 6-2, 6-1.

Tilden had no difficulty in beating Edward Foulke, Haverford college, and Charles Watson, Philadelphia. He eliminated Foulke without the loss of a game, but Watson put up a stiff fight and won four games in the first set and three in the second.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

The governing signs of this birthdate are Pisces and Aries. The combination giving both splendid understanding and excellent intellect. This means unusual brain power and the ability to carry through projects, schemes and details to successful conclusions.

The remarkable kindliness and enthusiasm concerning people and events make them the most fascinating of companions and friends. Their loyalty can always be depended upon.

They do not shine as logicians for in their mind there is something far greater than logic and that is intuition, and it seldom fails them.

The governing planets of this date are Neptune and Jupiter and the birthstone is a turquoise.

Work will be increasing by now and laborers, mechanics and steel workers will do well to keep their eyes on The Star Want Ads for the following month.

Automobile Chase Ends in Arrest of Trio; Man Is Fined

Paul Stratton, 26, a dairyman, Mrs. Fred K. Edson, 26, who lives at 1719 N street, and Mrs. E. W. Knight, 26, said to be of Laramie, Wy., were arrested late Thursday night, between Waverly and Havelock by Deputy State Sheriffs Karl Schmitt, C. E. Vogel and Milton Gates, after a furious automobile chase of a mile and a half, on the D. L. D. highway.

The officers found a ten gallon keg, which they say was filled with intoxicating liquor, in the back seat of the Dodge touring car. According to Schmitt, two pint bottles were found on Stratton, and Mrs. Edson had a pint bottle in her lap.

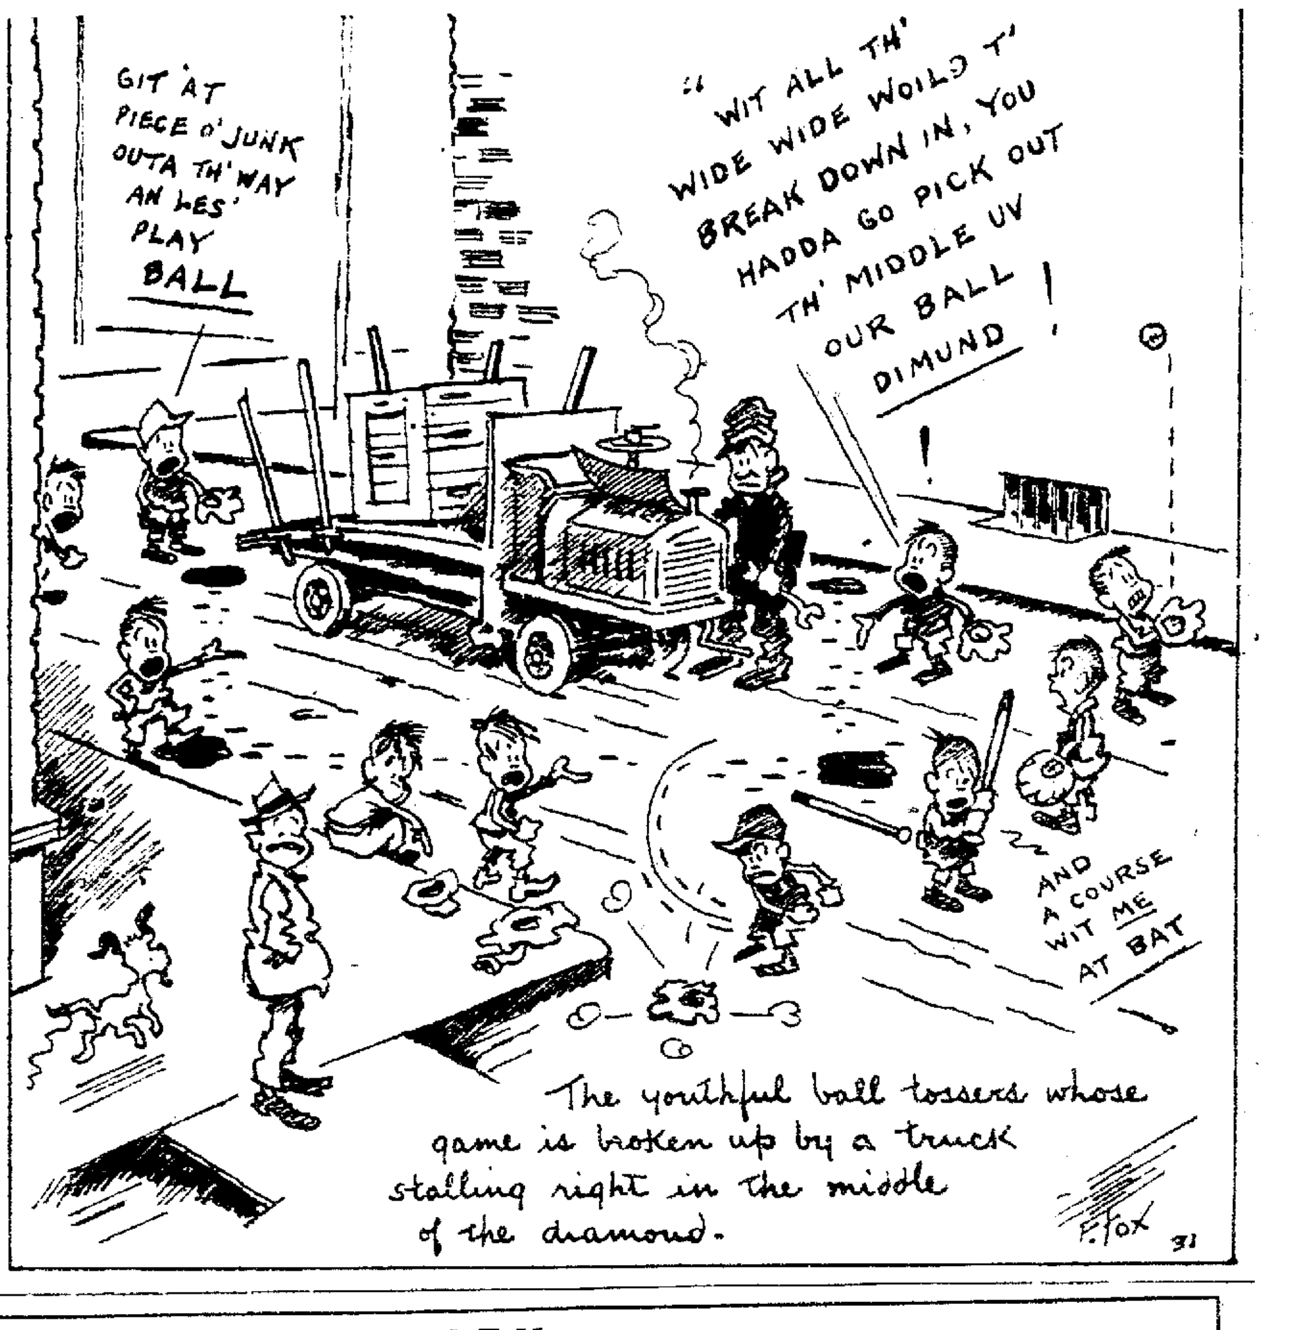

Stratton and the two women were taken to the city jail, where they were kept over night. Friday morning, Stratton was fined $100 and costs in Justice Stevens court, on a charge of unlawful possession and transportation of liquor. The car was ordered confiscated.

The two women are being held for investigation by federal authorities, according to the state sheriff.

PROPOSES APPEAL BOARD TO REVIEW ZONING RULINGS

Expert Makes Recommendation to Members of Advisory Committee.

Ennis Says Object of Board Is to Avoid Litigation.

Zoning Expert W. D. Ennis has recommended that a "Board of Appeals" be appointed in Lincoln as soon as the new zoning ordinance goes into effect, to review the cases of persons who are not satisfied with the rulings of the building inspector.

Mr. Ennis had a conference Thursday afternoon with members of the citizens' advisory board on zoning, and this was one of the topics discussed.

"The city commissioners in Lincoln have full legislative authority under the city's charter to appoint such a board," Mr. Ennis said. "That is true of but one other city that I know of, and that is New York city."

"The board of appeals in New York city has been a successful institution. It stands between the building inspector and the courts. Its principal object is to avoid litigation. It is very seldom indeed that a case gets into the courts in New York city after the board of appeals has decided upon it, and I cannot recall a single case where the courts have reversed a decision of the board of appeals.

Work Purely Administrative.

"The work of the board here would be purely administrative in nature. A zoning ordinance cannot be drawn up which will cover all cases. There are two possible ways of handling cases where a strict application of the ordinance would not be for best interests of the community. One would be by amending the ordinance—a very easy thing to do if the people want it amended, and a very difficult thing to do if the people do not want it amended. Doubtless, that is the proper solution for difficult cases. But the board of appeals would handle the simpler cases.

"Following is an example: The zoning ordinance prohibits the erection of buildings of a certain class, and the storing of building material in quantities in a certain residence district. However, a company decides to build twenty or thirty or maybe fifty residences in that district, all at one time. It would doubtless be for the good of that community to permit the company to erect tool houses and store building material temporarily under certain restrictions. That is a case where the board of appeals have a right to set aside, temporarily, some provisions of the zoning ordinance."

Five Members on Board.

Mr. Ennis recommended that there be five members of the board of appeals, preferably none of them city employes or city officials, with the possible exception of the city engineer. The initial appointments should be for one, two, three, four and five years, he said, so that one new member would be appointed on the board each year, the appointments to be made by the city council.

Hearings before the board should be public and minutes should be kept. Any person could appear for himself and it would not be necessary to employ an attorney to present his case. When asked what the principal qualifications of board members should be, Mr. Ennis said, "They should be business men."

Limiting the height of buildings on O street, near Fifteenth street, so as to not obstruct the view of the state capitol when Fifteenth street is opened north of O street, was also discussed.

Says Every Railroad Man Shoud Read This

Peterson's Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y. Dear Sirs: I was afflicted with what the doctors said were Varicose Ulcers, and up until about five weeks ago I have been treating them for about a year and five months.

With all the treatments that were prescribed to me by several doctors I received little benefit, and they kept spreading and gave me much distress and caused me to quit my work.

I was induced by a brother brakeman to try Peterson's Ointment, and after I had used two boxes I saw wonderful results. You can tell suffering ones troubled with ugly, painful and horrid ulcers that your ointment is a cure for them when everything else fails, as I have tried about everything. Thanking you many times over I am, your happy friend, Chas. J. Heyser, Battle Creek, Mich., 42 Glenwood Avenue, January 12, 1919.

"I know and dozens of people write me," says Peterson of Buffalo, "that Peterson's Ointment also cures eczema, old sores, salt rheum, piles and all skin diseases, and all druggists sell a big box for 60 cents." Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Municipal Coal Yard to Close

The municipal coal yard will officially close its first season at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. It was opened October 1. "Spring is here and there will be little demand from now on for coal for domestic purposes," City Commissioner C. W. Bryan, in charge of the municipal coal yard, said Friday morning.

More than 6,800 separate orders have been taken and delivered, Mr. Bryan said. Accurate figures are not available yet but the total tonnage of coal sold by the municipal yards will be near 5,000 tons.

"The volume of business handled has been far in excess of what was anticipated before the municipal coal yard was opened," Mr. Bryan said.

Customs Cutter Is Safe at Northport

NORTHPORT, N. Y., March 31.—The customs speedboat Surveyor reported missing after she left New York yesterday to take over an alleged rum runner at Bayville, L. I., docked here shortly after noon today. A lone deck hand found by newspaper men said the vessel had lost its bearings in Long Island Sound, but never had been in danger.

Grant Permit to Issue Bonds

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Permission was given the New York Central railroad today by the interstate commerce commission to issue and sell $60,000,000 in 5 per cent refunding mortgage bonds at not less than 90 per cent of par, to pay off maturing indebtedness and to reimburse its treasury for expenditures for betterment, made in recent years.

Boston Mayor Requests Figures on Rail System

"I will be deeply appreciative of the courtesy if you will kindly request your secretary to forward to me immediately reports of the operation of the street railway system in your city for the last three years."

State Spending in Excess of Income

State treasury receipts during March amounted to $792,581, while expenditures aggregated $1,006,251. The net balance in all funds was reduced from $1,321,000 to $1,107,000. The general fund deficit is now over $1,700,000, and large sums have been borrowed from a number of special funds to pay miscellaneous claims.

The capitol fund, the temporary school fund, and the state hail insurance fund are credited on the state treasurer's books with a combined balance of $2,300,000, but as there is only $1,107,000 of cash on hand in all funds the figures show that over a million dollars has been drawn out of these three special funds to pay claims against the general fund.
